

BURNS FATAL TO JERRY P. JUDGE TODAY

Death Ends Suffering of Man Burned at Work Wednesday

Jerry P. Judge of 216 E. Seventh street, died at the Dixon public hospital at about 11 o'clock this morning as the result of burns he received Wednesday morning at the Sandusky Cement Company's plant east of the city when the explosion of a can of kerosene drenched the lower part of his body with burning oil.

His body was removed to the Jones funeral home where Coroner F. M. Banker held an inquest this afternoon.

The unfortunate man, who was well known throughout the city, was assisting fellow workmen in the preparation of a casting for welding at the time of the tragic accident. A small fire had been built under the casting to thaw the frost out of the metal before attempting the weld, and kerosene was being used to feed this fire.

Suddenly a can containing about a gallon of the oil exploded and the burning fuel was thrown over Mr. Judge's legs, which were severely burned from the waist to his feet. His co-workers went to his assistance at once after the explosion, but they were unable to extinguish the flames until he was severely burned from his waist to his feet.

He was taken to the Dixon public hospital where everything possible was done for him, but to no avail.

EXPECT COURTS TO DISMISS GEN. BOOTH'S CLAIM

Lawyers Assure Reform Party that Booth Has No Grounds

London, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Hope that the courts would find that General Bramwell Booth has no legal grounds to prevent his being ousted from command of the Salvation Army was held today in reform circles.

Lawyers of the Army were understood to have assured the reform party in the high council that they had nothing to fear from the surprise injunction sprung by the General as the council met to choose his successor. They were confident that the chancery court would set aside the injunction when the case is called on Monday and the council will be left free to proceed with election of a new general on Tuesday.

Salvation Army circles were grief-stricken over the death of Commissioner Haines, vice president of the council, feeling that it was directly caused by word of the injunction. He had just finished a speech on the oppression of the present system of the army during which he had been frequently annoyed by interruptions from Catherine and Mary Booth, daughters of the General.

"How did he do it," he exclaimed when told of the injunction. He shuddered and dropped dead.

A spokesman for the American delegation said that General Booth had lost three of his eight supporters by his legal action. Commissioners Cunningham, Laurie and Smith, on hearing of the court action, disavowed any responsibility for it. They declared before members of the council that they had been alienated from the General's cause by his step.

Athletic Whistler "Got By" Holdup Men

Evansville, Ind. Jan. 19.—(AP)—Benjamin H. Sherman got by as just as he whistled he would.

Sherman, a patent attorney, was whistling merrily on his way home early today when two men held him up.

Being a former football player at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Sherman straightened out and kicked—like he would a football—the other.

Then he went on his way and resumed whistling. The tune was "I'll get by."

FUNERAL IN MENDOTA

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Gallagher, 75, who died at her home in Mendota Wednesday evening from pneumonia, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church in that city. She was the widow of the late Ed Gallagher, and was well known in Mendota, having lived there nineteen years. She is survived by four sons and three daughters, all of Mendota.

BURGLAR IS CAPTURED

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—William Cranhren, 41, of Cleveland, Ohio, was in jail today after an unsuccessful attempt to burglarize a department store. Cranhren, after overpowering the chief of merchant police who apprehended him as he was attempting to open a safe, was captured by a negro night watchman. Two bottles of nitro-glycerine were found on him.

SUICIDE WROTE HE HAD KIN IN THIS COMMUNITY

Telegraph Unable to Find Woman Named in Last Note

An Associated Press dispatch to The Telegraph today stated that E. C. Underwood of Chicago, who committed suicide by swallowing poison yesterday, was a relative of Esther Underwood of this city. There is no Esther Underwood listed in the city directory and efforts of The Telegraph failed to establish her identity, or to find any Underwood in this city who had a relative of that name in Chicago. The dispatch was:

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—E. C. Underwood, who committed suicide by swallowing poison yesterday, is believed by police to have been a son of the late B. D. Underwood, one of the founders of the typewriters company bearing that name.

Mrs. Ida Underwood Goshert, Chicago, said she was his sister and that he and his family had been estranged.

The body was found in a hotel just outside the loop. Underwood had scribbled several notes, one listing "my nearest relatives," and another giving "reasons: very discouraged over business reverses; all money lost; unable to get a job at any price."

Police were told Underwood had inherited more than $500,000 and had squandered it the last five years.

Mrs. Goshert said her brother, Frank, recently came from Moline, Ill., and endeavored to "straighten out" the affairs of E. C. Underwood.

The dead man had named as his relatives besides Mrs. Goshert, Frank Underwood, Moline, Ill.; Ella N. Grey, "out of town, Michigan, I believe," and Esther Underwood, Dixon, Ill.

"Underwood's sister told me yesterday that the family would have nothing to do with him," Policeman James Shea of the Chicago Avenue station told Deputy Coroner Robert C. Shutt at the inquest today. "Let the city bury him," she told me. She said she would not appear even to identify his body."

Mrs. Goshert admitted relationship to the dead man very reluctantly. Shea said. She admitted, the policeman added, relationship to the founders of the typewriter manufacturing company.

TEN KILLED BY TORNADO FRIDAY P. M.

Spring Storms Ahead of Schedule Swept Through Illinois

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Spring storms, two months ahead of time, killed 10 persons in five states yesterday, injured many more, caused heavy property damage and finally swirled away up the St. Lawrence River valley.

In several places the storm that moved northeastward from southern Missouri, across Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, was of tornadic violence, especially at Cape Girardeau, Mo., where two small children were killed. At Maunle, Ill., where there were three deaths, and at Fort Branch, Ind., where one woman was killed.

Unseasonal rains and high winds were reported over a wide area contiguous to the path of the principal storm, going as far south as Mississippi where one man was killed. Two men drowned in the Ohio River when the storm capriciously their skiff, another was blown from a bridge at Louisville, Ky.

List of the Dead.

Victims of the storm were:
Dorothy May Handley, 12, Maunle, Ill.
Bernice Tucker, 13, Maunle, Ill.
Mrs. Amos Newman, Maunle.
Marjorie Hargraves, 4, near Cape Girardeau, Mo.
Buddie Hargraves, 3, near Cape Girardeau, Mo.
Mrs. Mary Nolen, 65, Fort Branch, Ind.
Roy Litter, 21, and
Clinton Mahoney, 24, drowned in Ohio River between Milton, Ky., and Madison, Ind.
William Thrasher, 43, blown from bridge at Louisville, Ky.
Emelia Ferretti, about 65, Shelby, Miss.

A negro also was missing in the Shelby, Miss., storm and is believed to have been buried under wreckage of the three-story hardware store and Masonic Lodge building which was leveled. The roof of this structure was carried across the street and dropped upon Ferretti's shoe shop, crushing it and killing the shoemaker.

First damage from the storm occurred south of Cape Girardeau, Mo., where the two Hargraves children met death. The storm, swept by twisting wind and accompanied by rain, cut across Illinois, bearing northeast and causing damage at Texas City, Norris City, Harrisburg, Chris City and Anna. Buildings were blown down, and there was loss among livestock.

Cloudbursts were reported through the south-central Illinois section, causing heavy damage by the flooding of buildings. The small steamer Mary J. overturned in the Ohio river at Mounds, Ill. No one was aboard. Small streams throughout the area overflowed, and traffic was halted in many places where the water covered portions of the highway.

Destroyed School House.

The violence of the storm was intensified at Maunle, at the Illinois-Indiana line, where a school building collapsed, killing two children and Mrs. Newman and causing injuries, some serious, to 25 pupils.

Rising temperatures preceded and accompanied the storm, thermometers going as high at 64 degrees above zero at Evansville, Ind. Temperatures began falling when night came.

B. M'CAFFREY, POPULAR AMBOY MAN, IS DEAD

Bernard McCaffrey, for many years Assessor of Amboy township and well known throughout Lee county, died at the Amboy hospital at 6:45 o'clock this morning after a lingering illness, during which he was never heard to complain, although he was known to have suffered exceedingly. He was 68 years of age and had lived in Amboy almost his entire life. His genial disposition made him friends everywhere he was known, and news of his death will bring sorrow to many. Funeral services will probably be held at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Amboy Tuesday morning, with burial in St. Patrick's cemetery at that place. The obituary will be published later.

NO JOB FOR BEAN

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emerson will be relieved to know that he need not worry about finding a state job for at least one man.

"I do not want a job," Burt C. Bean, former assistant director of labor under Governor Lowden and part time under Governor Small, telegraphed today from East Whately, Ind.

Bean is editor of several trade magazines and biographers of Luther Burbank. His home is in Chicago.

ROSENFELD WILL RUN

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Walter A. Rosenfeld, Republican mayor Rock Island from 1923 to 1927 today announced his candidacy for nomination.

STRIKING FARMERS CUT DOWN SUPPLY OF CHICAGO MILK

Appeal To Hoover To Help Arbitration of Price War

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Convoys of Wisconsin and Illinois deputy sheriffs are protecting Chicago-bound truck cargoes of milk from picketers in the producers price strike.

Sheriff Lawrence Doolittle at Waukegan said today that his deputies are meeting Wisconsin trucks at the state line and escorting them to the protection of Cook County officers at the Lake County line.

To the Illinois line, bounding northern Lake County from Wisconsin, deputies of the latter state are doing guard duty.

Milk deliveries to Waukegan dealers have increased during the past two days since armed guards have protected trucks. A long line of trucks was halted by picketers at Long Grove, 20 miles west of Waukegan, today, but no milk was spilled. The Waukegan Lake Shore Pure Milk Association has voted not to spill any more milk. Sheriff Doolittle attributed much of the recent destruction of milk to farmers' boys, acting frantically.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The heel of striking dairymen today pressed more firmly on the source of Chicago's milk supply.

Strikers of three states, seeking $2.85 a hundredweight instead of the $2.50 Chicago distributors are paying, have asked President-Elect Hoover to take a hand in the situation.

"In line with your policy of immediate relief for farmers," said wire to Mr. Hoover by W. C. McQueen, president of the Pure Milk Association, "our organization, composed of dairymen supplying Chicago with pure milk, requests aid in its fight for a complete settlement of the marketing situation through arbitration."

The association also has brought the matter to the notice of federal authorities at Washington.

Chicago milk distribution continues at near normal, though distributors have been obliged to go a considerable distance into Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana for some of their supply.

Destruction of milk continued yesterday as pickets of strikers guarded receiving stations of the Borden and Bowman dairy companies while police patrolled highways to prevent a recurrence of violence which resulted in one kidnapping and the dumping of thousands of pounds of milk.

Indiana Joins Battle

The Northern Indiana Dairymen's Association last night voted to join the striking Illinois and Wisconsin producers. The Indiana association controls about 125,000 pounds of milk daily, four-fifths of which comes to Chicago.

A band of 100 farmers, carrying weapons, kidnapped Frank Janick, Model Dairy Company truck driver near Lake Zurich, Ill. last night, dumped 21,600 pounds of milk, and then released him after the company agreed to pay the increased price.

Six receiving stations in Illinois and Wisconsin have been closed.

ARGUE FITNESS OF ROY O. WEST IN U. S. SENATE

House Takes Recess; Cruiser Bill Gets No where In Senate

(By the Associated Press.)

House in recess; senate continues consideration of cruiser bill.

House Ways and Means committee goes ahead with hearings on tariff revision, with other committees in routine sessions.

Senate Indian affairs committee meets to prepare report on charges made against Senator Pine of Oklahoma by Indian Commissioner Burke.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—While the House was taking a day off, the Senate met in executive session today for consideration of the nomination of Roy O. West of Chicago, as Secretary of the Interior.

Opposition to confirmation of Mr. West was heard from Senator Norris, the Nebraska Republican, who aligned himself with other independents in contending that prior connections with utility interests disqualified West as head of the Interior Department.

Some representatives could not take an entire holiday, being engaged in committee meetings. The House Ways and Means committee experienced its first squabble between Republican and Democratic members on tariff revision, Garner of Texas, for the minority, insisting on complete publicity for the regranting procedure, while Treadway of Massachusetts, for the majority, contended that such was not feasible.

The House Merchant Marine committee worked on the bill to keep the federal radio commission in force for another year, and the senate inter-state commerce committee heard additional witnesses opposing the bill to regulate the bituminous mining industry.

INDICT THREE MEN FOR MURDER AFTER FATAL AUTO CRASH

Man Who Sold Liquor and Two Occupants of Death Car are Indicted

Three indictments charging murder were returned by the LaSalle county grand jury in Ottawa Friday afternoon as an outgrowth of an automobile accident near Streator New Year's Eve, which resulted in the death of Joseph, Richard and Louis Carter, brothers, of Cornell, Ill.

Those indicted were: Russell Matson, of Granville, driver of the car which collided with that in which the Carter brothers were riding; John Buhn, also of Granville, who was Matson's companion; and Charles Ryan, proprietor of a "coffee shop" in Streator, who is alleged to have sold Matson and Buhn liquor, with which it is charged they were intoxicated at the time of the crash.

Indictments Are Surprised
The indictments came as a surprise, inasmuch as there had been no indication that any of the trio would be obliged to stand trial on so serious a charge. Matson was the only one who had been arrested after the crash and the coroner's jury had recommended that he be held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge, the penalty for which is imprisonment for one to fourteen years; while the penalty for murder is either death by electrocution or imprisonment for not less than four years.

SHERIFF MOVES INTO NEW ROOM IN COURT HOUSE

More Comfort in Quar- ters Fitted Out in Grand Jury Room

The office of Lee county's sheriff, which for some time has occupied a small cramped quarters on the third floor of the court house, has been moved into a more spacious and agreeable location on the same floor. Sheriff Ward Miller moved yesterday afternoon into the room on the southeast corner of the third floor which has been used three times each year as the grand jury room ever since the court house was built.

The quarters here are large enough to care for the business of the sheriff's office and the arrangement is much more satisfactory. The small office vacated by the sheriff will probably be converted into a room for the court reporter. This arrangement will provide an office for the court reporter which will be close to both the circuit court room and the judge's chamber. In the past the court reporter has had no quarters in the court house.

Under the new arrangement the grand jury which meets but three times each year, will hold their investigations on the first floor in the supervisors room. This change will not conflict with any meetings of the board of supervisors and provides much more pleasant surroundings for the members of the grand jury. The small committee room adjoining the supervisors chamber will be used during grand jury sessions as the witness waiting room.

Makes Commendous Office.

In moving into his new quarters yesterday afternoon, Sheriff Miller now has sufficient room in which to transact the business of his office. In the past a part of the business of the sheriff's office was transacted at the county jail, but under the new arrangement there is ample space for filing cases, office space, a waiting room and more important, a private office which will be used by the sheriff. The room formerly used as the grand jury witness waiting room has been converted into a private office for the sheriff.

Inspect Scrubbing Machine.

A machine which scrubs all kinds of floor without the use of hands other than the turning on and off of an electric switch and guiding the machine, was demonstrated to members of the scrubbing committee of the board of supervisors at the court house yesterday afternoon. The machine was used on the wood floors as well as on the terrazzo oors in the lobby on the first floor. The demonstrator first scrubbed the floor, allowed it to dry and then applied wax with the same machine. It is probable that one of these machines may be purchased by the county for use in the court house.

Playing in Charity Game Proved Costly

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Because he competed in the annual east-west charity football game at San Francisco, December 29, Rube Wagner, captain of Wisconsin's 1928 football team and a star weight man on the track squad, has been banned from further college athletic competition.

TO GUARE SCHOOLS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Seeking "to stimulate interest in the public schools and to strive for the appointment to school boards only of friends of public schools," the For Dearborn Civic League obtained incorporation papers today from Secretary of State William J. Stratton.

There is no real style in furniture that can be labelled "King George V," according to one authority.

HOOVER TALKS TO BELGIANS ON TELEPHONE

King Albert of Belgium Responds to Trans- Atlantic Speech

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Tribute to the sacrifice and courage of the Belgian people in the world war was paid today by President-Elect Hoover in an address which was carried across the ocean by long distance telephone.

Sitting at his desk at his temporary headquarters here, Mr. Hoover spoke to an audience gathered in the public square at Brussels at a celebration in honor of the election of the former chairman of the Commission for the Relief of Belgium, to the presidency of the United States.

The address was in response to those delivered by King Albert, Premier Jaspar, and Emile Francqui, who was associated with Mr. Hoover in Belgian relief work during the German occupation.

Praises Belgium's Heroism

"I appreciate this opportunity to extend my greetings to Your Majesties and to my many old friends of the relief organization in Belgium," Mr. Hoover said. "I could not join in this occasion without a flood of memories of the years of our association during the great war. Time quickly dims that gigantic period in the minds of men, and the problems and difficulties of reconstruction from the war envelop our attention. But nothing dims the radiance of Belgian sacrifice and courage. There are none who do not pay homage to its imperishable chapter of patriotism and sacrifice."

"The very minor paragraph which in history will be allotted to the relief organization will be a chapter in proof of the altruism of the tens of thousands of Belgians who volunteered to carry the burden of its administration over four long years—a service where man and woman gave a devotion in alleviation of suffering second only to the devotion of those of the supreme service of war."

"It is the acts of service, of sacrifice and of heroism in all nations that should remain as the heritage of the great war, for in these all humanity can unite in a common satisfaction and a common inspiration."

"I rejoice also in the assistance that the continuing activities of the relief organization have been able to give to the advancement of education in Belgium. It is a memorial of a great period which brings every year a new harvest and satisfaction."

"I thank Your Majesties, the Prime Minister and other friends for their renewed expressions of good will to myself and my associates and to my country. It marks an enduring friendship for it springs from the hearts of men. It finds deep response in my countrymen."

King Albert Responds

Mr. Hoover spoke first and King Albert followed, speaking in English.

The text of King Albert's address was made public here follows:

"I congratulate most sincerely the President-elect of the United States, to whom a great nation has, through an imposing vote, entrusted the leadership of its destinies. The United States of America, which extend from one ocean to another, combine the splendid development of industrial technique and production with the noblest solicitude for universal peace."

"The Kellogg pact has brought forward an ideal of high international morality. It is the duty of all interested nations to maintain this ideal unblemished."

"Belgium will never forget the help given by Mr. Hoover to her people suffering in the throes of the great war. He was the soul of their relief amidst the greatest political, maritime and economic difficulties. In the name of the Belgian people I express our sympathy and gratefulness to the great American who has well deserved the title which now others have just obtained of 'Friend of Belgium.'"

Milwaukee Youth Sentenced To Die By Atlanta Jury

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—(AP)—George Harsh, former Oglethorpe University student and scion of a wealthy Milwaukee family, was convicted by a superior court jury here today of murder. The verdict carries the death penalty.

He had confessed fatally shooting William Smith, young drug store manager when he attempted to hold up the store on the night of Oct. 16 for a "thrill." Counsel for Harsh sought to prove through a number of alibis that he was mentally and morally irresponsible because of an inferiority complex and a shut-in personality which rendered him unable to resist impulses.

The jury deliberated less than an hour.

Cannot Discover Cause Of Death Of Miss Carrie Bruns

Ohlman, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The mysterious death two weeks ago of Miss Carrie Bruns, pretty postal clerk of Ohlman, today appeared as far from solution as ever, with the initial report on a viscera examination showing no cause for her death. A chemical analysis is yet to be made of the organs.

Miss Bruns was found dead outside the village of Ohlman with no marks of violence on her body.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

CARLOAD OF OYSTERS.

A large steel express car, loaded with oysters, passed through Dixon yesterday on train No. 9 over the Northwestern with San Francisco as its destination. The bivalves were shipped from eastern beds to the west coast trade.

HUNTER FINED

Ivan Christenson of Manlius arrested several days ago by Game Commissioner Fred Kersten of Ashton, paid a fine of $25 and the costs, when arraigned before Justice George E. Hines in Amboy, on a charge of hunting without a license.

LICENSED TO WED

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick: Martin S. Springer and Miss Julia A. Barie, both of Dixon; Ralph A. Herrmann of Willow Creek township and Miss Ellen C. Hickey of Milan township, DeKalb county; Walter C. Peterson of Morrison and Miss Geraldine C. McKune of Lymdon.

POLICE CAR DAMAGED

Carl Niback, driving a truck loaded with freight, enroute to Chicago, lost control of his machine on the Galena avenue hill about 12:30 midnight and backed into the Ford coupe belonging to the police department, which was driven by Officer Dick Pomeroy. The coupe was considerably damaged, the radiator and fenders suffering from the impact, necessitating the machine being taken to a garage for repairs.

BOYS TO ST. CHARLES

Deputies Fred Richardson and Frank Miller went to St. Charles this morning with three boys, who have been sentenced to serve indeterminate sentences at the state training school. Edward Giese and Oscar Steder, north side youths, sentenced by Judge Leech in the county court yesterday and Albert Manning sentenced by Judge Edwards in the circuit court a few days ago were delivered to the St. Charles school.

CHAS. ANDRES INJURED

Charles Andres, one of the caretakers at the court house is confined to his home, suffering from fractured ribs sustained in an accidental fall on a slippery sidewalk a few days ago. Mr. Andres was on his way from the house to the barn when he slipped and fell, fracturing ribs on the right side. The injury proved very painful and he will be confined to his home for several days. David Ditzler is assisting in the work at the court house during his absence.

HEARING IN CO. COURT

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bollman and son of Glenn Elyn were in Dixon this morning attending a hearing before Judge Leech of the county court. The Bollman family were badly injured last fall when their car was sideswiped by one of the Yellowways, buses operating between Chicago and Omaha, near the Emmert cemetery on the Lincoln Highway east of Nachusa. Edward J. Placek, driver of the bus, was held under two charges, that of speeding and reckless driving and of operating a motor vehicle without Illinois license plates, and furnished bond in the sum of $5000.

Cold, Clear Weather Welcomed After Rain And Sleet Yesterday

Welcome relief from the cloudy raw weather of the past several days came during the night, after Friday afternoon's rain and sleet storm had turned to snow which ceased falling early in the evening, after which the skies cleared. A drop in temperature accompanied the vanishing of the clouds and this morning dawned fair and cold, an ideal winter day overhead, but not so good underneath. The wind swept the snow over the city covered pavements in the country, which were still very slippery in places today, but the snow helped the wheeling in town.

Friday's sleet storm commenced to have its effect on telephone lines Friday afternoon and before the storm subsided thirty-four of the Dixon Home Telephone Company's lines were out of commission, there being no line in service between Dixon and Rockford during the late afternoon, while lines to other cities were also down. However by noon today all of the crippled lines had been restored to service. The I. N. U. Co. also experienced some line trouble as a result of the storm, but not as severely as did the telephone company.

Funeral of Mrs. Dora Brunson Monday Morn

The funeral of Mrs. Dora Brunson, whose death yesterday was announced in last evening's Telegraph, will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Milton Baker, 812 Monroe avenue, where she died, at 9 o'clock Monday morning, and at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30, with burial in Oakwood.

Dora Brunson was born in New York, August 10, 1846 and was aged 82 years, five months and eight days at the time of her death. When a child she went to Mendota, where she was united in marriage to William

VALLEY VIEW
LOOK far down the valley yonder
And beyond, to where the slopes
Of the purple Apennines
Rise majestic, range on range
Towards the sunset. See the trees
Standing clear against the sky:
The deep orange light revealing
Every branch of those tall pines.
That, like sentries of the mountains,
Sully watch across vast spaces.
Wild ravines and ragged rocks
Lie between, and the hills
Folded soft in misty outlines
Seem asleep.

San Malo Revisits St. Malo, France

Alfredo San Malo, the Latin violinist who will play at the Dixon Theater on Sunday p. m. at 2:45, recently crossed the Atlantic for the first time since boyhood to his ancestral home of St. Malo, France.

The famous fortress support of St. Malo was named after his ancestors, an old Huguenot family which, during the religious persecutions fled its native heath to take up residence in Holland. A group of these refugees emigrated to South America, and the violinist is a direct descendant of one of these pioneers. His father and mother were both violinists in Panama.

San Malo began his violin studies at the age of five, and was educated mainly in France and Germany. In 1916 he was one of the two foreign students admitted to the Paris Conservatoire, and three years later he completed the four years' course with the highest honor, signified by the award of the coveted Grand Prix to a student of only 17 years. Since that time, he has played in almost every great city.

KNITTING CRAZE SWEETS
THROUGH SMITH COLLEGE
Northampton, Mass.—(AP)—A knitting craze has broken out like an epidemic at Smith College.

The more severe manifestations are as yet confined to dormitories, but it is feared that campus and classrooms may yet feel the effects of the sweep. In its wake are found such utilitarian articles as sweater suits rather than the more strictly domestic comforters.

The most desolate locality in the barrenness according to a newly passed regulation, are not allowed to bring their knitting to meals, lest pervasiveness, the yarn become confused with the food, it said, including that food with the Italian name.

This Victorian pastime is explained by the victims not as a return to native artlessness, but as a triumph of sophistication.

Popular PawPaw Couple Married

Ralph Potter and Mrs. Gladys Zaleski, both of Paw Paw surprised their friends last week by returning home married. Mr. Potter, who has been in Florida for a number of weeks when he drove the car of Mrs. Nellie Moffat returned to Aurora last week. There he was met by Mrs. Zaleski and they proceeded to Geneva, where before Judge Reiser, on Friday, Jan. 4, they were married.

Both parties are well and favorably known in Paw Paw where each has lived practically all their lives. The bride is a daughter of Clyde Milton, northwest of Paw Paw.

After March 1st, they will occupy the Almeron Potter farm west of Paw Paw.

Miss Pabst And Robert Moats Wed

On Thursday evening, Jan. 17th, in Freeport, occurred the marriage of Miss Lottie Pabst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pabst of Maryland, and Robert Moats, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moats of Polo. They will make their home in Polo where Mr. Moats is a painter. They are receiving the best wishes of their friends for happiness.

BALDWIN AUXILIARY U. S. W. V. TO MEET TUESDAY
Baldwin Auxiliary U. S. W. V. will meet Tuesday evening in G. A. R. Hall. A good attendance is desired.

MENU for the FAMILY

BREAKFAST—California grapes, cereal, cream, tomato omelet, date graham muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Creamed celery on toast, prune and peanut butter sandwiches, cinnamon apples, oatmeal drop cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Breaded veal cutlets, twice baked potatoes, scalloped tomatoes, grape fruit and celery salad, junket ice cream, chocolate cake, milk, coffee.

The muffin recipe is well worth while since no eggs are used. The rule can be baked in a loaf and used for ten sandwiches if preferred.

Date Graham Muffins.
One cup graham flour, 1 cup white flour, 4 cup light brown sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup sour cream, 1 cup stoned and chopped dates.
Mix and sift white flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Add to graham flour and mix well. Add cream and soda dissolved in 1 1/2 teaspoon cold water. Beat hard and add dates. Drop into oiled and floured muffin pans and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Betrothal Announced On Last Evening

At a very charming party at her home last evening, Miss Hazel Greer made the announcement of her engagement to Robert H. Scates of Dixon, formerly of San Antonio, Texas. Decorations suitable for Valentine's day were most appropriate and beautiful, in red and white. Valentines were effectively used. Red carnations and white narcissus and ferns emphasized charmingly St. Valentine's chosen colors, while favors, making cards, etc., were all combined in place the Old Saint's special message on this occasion very plain.

The guests were engaged in playing bridge, forming four tables. Miss Lucille Stauffer was presented with the favor for high score, and Mrs. Clinton Ives won the favor for second honors.

After bridge a most delectable two course luncheon was served from the beautifully decorated tables.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Hazel M. Greer and Robert H. Scates was made on the dainty place cards, the date of the wedding to be February ninth.

The news of the engagement of this popular young couple will be received with much interest by their many friends. Miss Greer, a charming and beautiful girl, is employed as stenographer in the District office of the State Department of Highways. Mr. Scates, a genial and likeable young man, is employed as a civil engineer working out of the Dixon office. Best wishes are extended in advance to the young people for their future happiness.

Miss Alda Holdridge of Sterling was an out of town guest in attendance at the announcement party.

Sunshine Class Elected Officers

The monthly meeting of the Sunshine Class of St. Paul's church was held Thursday evening in the church parlors, with a very good attendance. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Pollett, with the song, "Count Your Blessings." Scripture lesson; the 103rd Psalm was read by Mrs. Coakley. The treasurer's report for the past year was very satisfactory. The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:

President—Mrs. Jessie Pollett.
Vice-President—Bessie Schultz.
Attendance—Mrs. Carrie Bremer.
Secretaries—Mrs. Florence Whitish.

Recording Secretary—Mary Hill.
Treasurer—Mrs. Nettie Coakley.
Teacher—Mrs. Mary L. Kay.
Assistant Teacher—Mildred Smith.
The February meeting will be the annual class banquet which was discussed at this time. Refreshments were served by the committee, Mesdames Mildred Smith, Sadie Winters, Hannah Miller and Mary Peterson.

MISS CADY AND PAUL FISHER ANNOUNCE WEDDING
Miss Elva Cady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cady of Lyndon, and Paul Fisher of Lime Springs, Iowa, yesterday announced their marriage, which occurred Jan. 4. They are visiting at the bride's home this week, and will spend the remainder of the winter with the groom's parents. Mrs. Fisher is a popular Lyndon girl and is receiving the congratulations of her friends.

Thursday Reading Circle Meeting

The Thursday Reading Circle met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. W. Miller.
Music for the occasion was furnished by Mrs. Lee Read, Mrs. Nate Morrill and Miss Ora Floto.
An interesting paper on "Mrs. Hoover's International Housekeeping" was read by Mrs. Chas. Mumma.
At the close of the program the hostess served a delicious luncheon.

TO SPEND SUNDAY WITH MRS. BOKHOFF
Henry Bokhoff of Chicago will arrive in Dixon this evening to spend Sunday with his mother, Mrs. C. H. Bokhoff.

The WOMAN'S DAY

ALLENE JULED

At first thought it may seem rather queer for a second wife to pay alimony to a first wife as the singer, Irene Pavloska, did, guaranteeing the wife of Dr. Maurice Mesirov $43 weekly alimony, and proceeding to marry the doctor herself. And why the wonder? Women are certainly demonstrating these days, the humblest as well as prima donnas, that they will go to most any lengths to achieve matrimony.

Some woman in New Jersey swapped her husband for a nice house the other day too. The name has escaped me, for she was not a grand opera diva. Here's a funny quirk, though: the guarantees alimony to get a husband, and the other is only too glad to swap a husband for the alimony or a house. "Far pastures look green."

THE MAMA JOB
Two small children, aged 2 and 4, were locked in the kitchen by their mother while she ran down on an errand to her sister-in-law's home four doors away. When the mother came home the house was ablaze and the children were found charred to death.

The woman is near death prostrated with grief and remorse and no doubt, cannot rest from herself but from her husband. Those aren't the first children married or killed because mama went away? Why blame women workers in a system which gives them only constant day and night responsibility and no time off?

THESE MARRIED WOMEN
Twice as many married women work in the United States today as in 1890. The increase is due to necessity, according to Miss Mary Anderson of the Women's Bureau. She repeats the opinion of most economists and sociologists that the women who work for pin money or because they don't like staying at home are a negligible quantity as compared with those who work for pay checks because they must. Today's figure is one working married woman in every 11 as contrasted with one in every 22 about thirty years ago.

"WHAT IS NECESSITY?"
The real question is just what makes the "necessity"? One guess would be an increased standard of living demanding luxuries which the 1890 women would never have dreamed of, preferring her full-time journey in the home to the luxuries deemed "necessities" today. Which is no argument for or against the present custom, of course.

Vows Performed at Home of Bride

Miss Irma Winkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Winkey of Coleta, and Carl William Brown, son of Mr. Clifford Carter, of Polo, were united in marriage Tuesday evening at a beautiful wedding solemnized at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride. Rev. F. E. Blimline officiated at the single ring ceremony. The home was gay with flowers and candles. Colors of lavender and pink were combined in decorating.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. F. E. Blimline and Miss Eleanor Blimline very sweetly sang, "O Promise Me." The bride was attended by Miss Bertha Winkey, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and the bridegroom was attended by Elery Grubb, as the best man.

The attractive bride made a charming picture in her lovely gown of tan crepe satin. Miss Bertha Winkey wore a charming frock of light brown crepe satin.

Afterward a bountiful wedding feast was served to twenty-four guests, relatives and friends.

Mrs. Brown resided west of Coleta with her parents. She possesses a charm of personality that has won many friends. Mr. Brown is a Polo boy, and is an industrious farmer. After March 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will be at home on a farm north of Milledgeville. They have best wishes extended to them for a married life of joy and prosperity.

Delightful Evening; Supper and Bridge

A company of friends were delightfully entertained last evening by Judge and Mrs. Harry Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards, at the attractive suburban home of the latter couple on Hazewood road. A most tempting buffet supper was followed by a happy evening at bridge, there being guests for six tables.

Lovely yellow and white tulips and jonquils, harbingers of spring, emphasized the color notes in the beautiful decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Forsyth were awarded the favor for high score; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Raymond second; and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pitney the consolation favor.

Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Kotalek of Chicago, who are guests at the Judge Edwards home, were in attendance. The entire evening was one of complete enjoyment to all who were present.

SAN MALO GREETED WITH OVATION
Alfred San Malo, who played in London a short time ago, was received with great enthusiasm and spoken of as one of the finest violinists.

Appreciation Must Come from Children

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Popular appreciation of modern art must come through school children! This opinion was expounded today over the radio, for the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, by Miss Lucy S. Silke, Director of Art for the Chicago public schools, and twice past president of the Western Art association.

"If modern art is to be understood," Miss Silke said, "it will be through the children. They have the modern point of view, creative, colorful, original and sincere. They are independent of rules and tradition and work in a fresh independent way. Adjustment to modern art will come through the children."

Miss Silke said Chicago schools planned to develop art appreciation, creative ability, knowledge of art material, and knowledge of master pieces.

Addressing herself to the radio audience of the Congress, Miss Silke told how she thought parents might cooperate with teachers. "Sympathetically following children's work, parents will see, she said, 'that what seems to be crudity is lost sight of, parents enter into the spirit of the child's art work and development, and encourage the child's effort by this appreciation and feeling for the child's work.'"

"Parents may cooperate by keeping up to date. Children frequently leave beautifully appointed school rooms to go to homes that are just the opposite. There should be no conflict between home surroundings and school art. The background of the pupil is revealed to the teacher in the attitude of the pupil."

DALE HOLMAN HAPPILY SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY
Dale Holman, who is employed in Dixon and who has been quite ill for several weeks, is much improved. Yesterday his father and his sister, Mrs. L. Streeter of Huskley, Ia., arrived to surprise him on his eighteenth birthday. He is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Franks while in Dixon. Instead of a lonely birthday, it proved to be a happy one.

CHAPTER AC, TO MEET MONDAY EVENING
Chapter AC, Ill. P. E. O. will hold a special meeting Monday evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. Alfred Rowland, 266 Dement ave., after which the members will enjoy supper at the Coffee House at 7 o'clock.

ARE GUESTS AT JUDGE EDWARDS HOME
Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Kotalek of Chicago, are guests at the home of Judge and Mrs. Harry Edwards in Dixon. Mrs. Kotalek and Mrs. Edwards are sisters.

PRACTICAL CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY AFTERNOON
The Practical Club will meet with Mrs. G. P. Powell, 309 E. Third St., Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 22. Mrs. Byers will give the paper, "To Cleanse the Printed Page."

LADIES G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY EVENING
The Ladies of the G. A. R. will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock at G. A. R. hall. A good attendance is desired.

YOUR CHILDREN
By Olive Roberts Barton
© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

So many parents are joy-killers! They don't mean to be and likely they would be tremendously surprised if someone would say to them, "You are making your child more unhappy every day he lives."

"Unhappy! Why, we're doing everything on earth for him! He has a good home, excellent food, every comfort, and even luxury. And we are never cross with him. Few children have as many blessings as our boy. What do you mean?"

The thing these parents are doing is simply this. They are tearing down air castles—air castles in a fairy world that all children build up in their minds and love to live in. Things of fragile construction, these

The Bidding: South opens with one heart. West bids one spade. North bids two hearts and all pass.

Deciding the play: West leads king of spades and then plays ace of spades and king of diamonds. How should declarer play so that game is assured?

The Error: Declarer captures the third trick with ace of diamonds and then establishes the trump suit by leading king of hearts and forcing opponents to play ace of hearts. Upon obtaining the lead opponents proceed to win one trick in diamonds, thus preventing game.

The Correct Method: After capturing the third trick with ace of diamonds, declarer should lead king of clubs, overtaking the trick with ace of clubs in dummy. The queen of clubs is now played and 4 of diamonds is discarded on it. After that the trump suit is played and game is insured. Declarer, before touching or drawing a card, should immediately upon dummy's being exposed determine how to discard a loser that may prevent game.

The Principle: Discard a losing card before it is too late.

castles, that no grown-up may enter, the road to which, indeed, no grown-up has ever yet found.

"What silly stuff is this about your kitty talking to you?" remarks Buddy's father. "Don't you know that cats can't talk? They can't even think. No animal can think. Now put that cat down and stop this nonsense. Those silly books your mother reads to you have put these notions into your head."

Even mothers are culpable sometimes, however.

"A nice boy walked home from school with me today," says John. His name is William Harper and he lives in that big red house on the corner."

"William Harper? For goodness sake, John. Where did you pick him up? You stay away from him; his father was arrested for bootlegging. I don't want you to be seen with him ever again."

"But he's a nice fellow, Mother. He took my part when Hank Corbin tried to pick a fight. That's why I walked home with him."

"I don't care. You stay away from him."

Sometimes a little fiction of the imagination; sometimes a liking for a friend—it's all the same. Children are happy because they dress things up with a halo—peta, friends, toys. They are born idealists. That is why, when we're older, things never look the same. We have lost the magic gases of childhood—and we have lost some thing of loyalty, too. Why destroy their little ideals?

When two many of their air castles crash about their ears, they stop building. And that, good mothers and fathers, is about the saddest moment in a child's life.

FASHION HINTS—SEMI-CAPE

A new little bit of georgette neckwear is like a one-shoulder cape, with the other shoulder slanted off obliquely. The collar is edged with lace.

Guimpes are in vane! The woman clever with her needle can add much to her street frocks and suit blouses by fashioning little hand-made gainties to dress up her neck.

ORGANDY RUFFLES
A little Chanel red frock has narrow, hand-hemmed ruffles of organdy across the edges of red bow-knots that trim the front like jabots, tie the tops of both cuffs and give a feminine touch to the back of the plain necktie.

BOWKNOT SCARF
Newest scarfs are not the triangle nor yet the square, but the very long shape, ranging from six to ten inches wide. They wind around the neck and tie in a double bowknot under the chin, leaving long ends hanging.

INTRICATE DETAIL
A flush-beige ballblunt hat with wide sides, short front and turned up back has its crown slot-seamed over matching grosgrain ribbon in a pattern of fine leaves. It gives the impression of quilting.

ANTIBES TAN
The newest heshery shade is Antibes tan, which is the correct tone to wear with all the off-whites. It also is good for evening with colorful shoes matching Milady's gown.

SCARF HAT
Agnes sends us a little brown felt spring hat, with narrow brim, that has its crown swathed in a gorgeous brown and orange scarf which knots in the back and has long ends to wrap around the neck.

BLACK 'N' BLUE
A soft taffeta printed frock, fine blue figures on black, has a pleated apron overskirt across the back that ties in front with a pert bow.

With Honce on His Trip Around State of Illinois

BY CHARLES HONCE

(Associated Press News Editor)
Monmouth, Ill., Jan.—(AP)— If three men had not borrowed women's mind changing prerogative, Monmouth today would have been known as Kescusko.

The name literally came out of a hat on the second draw. Back in 1831 the state legislature appointed a commission of three to select the capital for Warren county and to give it a name.

The first part of the task was performed without a hitch, but the second was not so easy. The commissioners finally selected three names—Isabella, Kescusko and Monmouth—and put them in a hat.

Kosciusko was drawn. The commissioners thereupon went into a huddle and after agreeing that Kescusko would be a difficult name to spell when the town finally became a going concern, decided to draw again.

This time the fates were kind and Monmouth was the selection. The name was suggested by one of the commissioners who came from Monmouth, N. J.

These historical details are from a history of Warren county by Hugh R. Moffet, editor and publisher of the Monmouth Review-Atlas and member of The Associated Press.

That paper county seat of 1831 is now a bustling community of 10,000 and, incidentally, the home of the first commercial flying field in Illinois.

Nowadays if you come into Monmouth by air you cannot lose your bearings for the name of the town is painted in letters sixteen feet high over 125 feet of roof space in the down town area. The chamber of Commerce is raising a fund to flood light the name for the benefit of pilots who follow the commercial airway from Kansas City to Chicago after dark.

The business district of Monmouth is built around a public square, which, in summer is pleasantly shaded by huge maple trees. In fact Monmouth is known as the Maple City. Looking over the square is the office of the Review-Atlas, a consolidation of the Atlas established in 1846 and the Review, established in 1855.

The square now is snow covered; in fact the city and countryside are blanketed with snow.

But if you believe the testimony of old timers, snows now are not what they used to be. Like the high wind in Ireland now still will hear mention of the "winter of the deep snow" in western Illinois.

Let's quote again from Mr. Moffet's history.
"The winter of 1830-31 was known all over this section as the 'winter of the deep snow.' At one time about two and one-half feet of snow fell, followed by rain which covered it over with a glare of ice."

"Another snow made it three feet deep on the levee, and for six weeks there was an embargo on all travel. There were no roads and crossing the prairie in the snow was not safe. The hollows were filled to the level, and one was liable to get beyond his depth."

"The wind blew the snow all the time and the wagon or foot tracks were filled up almost as soon as they were made. When the spring rains came, the deep snow melted, and the small streams of the country were turned into raging floods."

"The spring was a fine one, and the settlers ploughed and planted corn and made gardens. The crops, however, were almost a failure on account of the remarkably cold summer. Corn did not ripen, and was so soft that water could be squeezed from the ear and the cob with the hand."

"The next winter a rain and freeze covered the whole surface of the county with a sheet of smooth ice, and travel was largely by skates."

But that was a long time ago. Monmouth would rather talk about its modern industrial development, its airport, its college, its civic improvements and its future.

The airport is one of three operated by the Midwest Airways Corporation, of which John H. Livingston is president and manager. Livingston, you will recall, was one of the winners in the recent trans-continental flight from New York to California. Here at Monmouth flyers are taught the tricks of the trade.

One of Monmouth's best known institutions is Monmouth college and Conservatory of Music with 72 years of history behind it. Monmouth also announces that it has the only free county library in the state. The city has taken steps to preserve the early western atmosphere in Monmouth Park, 217 acres of virgin forests.

Nearly a score of industries distribute pay checks in Monmouth and the city is the headquarters of the Illinois Bankers Life association with more than a hundred million dollars of insurance in force.

And of course there is a chamber of commerce with two hundred members. In its yearly report, just issued, it announces this program for 1929: "The effort and accomplishment of an endeavor to make Monmouth a more co-operative, sympathetic and effective community."

It is difficult to find a spot in which the next item will fit, so it will be forced in right here, because it must be told. There is a hotel here that has buttons and threaded needles—either black or white thread—in every room.

Ralph Greenleaf, United States pocket billiard champion, happens to be a native of Monmouth. Nicola, the magician, also calls it his hometown, and gets back here every few years after one of the world tours. Nicola's real name is Will Nicol, and he obtained many of the secrets of his art from his father, who originated the trunk disappearing act.

30,000 LOOK FOR JOBS.

Thirty thousand men gathered in the open lots surrounding the Ford Motor Company's plant in Detroit the other day looking for jobs. All were unemployed; some of them lived in Detroit, some had been drawn from distant cities by the announcement that Ford was going to enlarge his staff. Throughout a long winter day they stood in the cold, waiting for a chance to be put to work.

There is something about that bit of news that makes one stop and do a little thinking.

Thirty thousand men—collected from the cities, towns and farms of the middle west, waiting all day long in the cold and snow for a chance to win the jobs that meant the difference between comfort and privation. More men than Washington ever commanded in his continental army, standing in line to let one of the modern kings of the earth take his pick.

Was there ever a time in all history when that many adult males without provoking fears of riot, bloodshed and destruction? Has it often happened that one man has been arbiter of destiny for so many?

We specialize in bigness, in this country. Our factories are the biggest on earth, our buildings are the tallest, our rich men are the richest, our queues of job seekers are the longest. The 30,000 men who met outside Henry Ford's factory door symbolized, in a striking way, our New World civilization. A land of magnificent plenty and a land of eternal competition; a land where the job is the biggest thing in life; a land where the race is always to the strong and the swift; a land where old words like democracy and equality have been completely changed about in their meanings by whirling machinery—those things, and more, were implied by the presence of those 30,000.

The early American looked to his political leaders for guidance. If they would give him peace and freedom, he would settle on the rich farm land of the unclaimed frontier and work out his own destiny without asking anything more. The modern American has 'bout-faced. He looks to the industrialists. They have the jobs. Give him one, and let him share in the prosperity of the day, and he will let the politicians do about as they like. Deprive him of one, and he will raise hob.

That, probably, is why we are known as a nation of conservatives. Industry and business have grown more important than politics. When one man's announcement that he has an abundance of jobs can draw 30,000 men to his door, it is evident that the early American set of values has been replaced by a new set.

We have committed ourselves to large-scale industrialism, and we shall stand or fall with it. Our Henry Fords have put us on a new path, and it is up to them to see to it that the path leads in the right direction. If the time ever comes when it does not—well, you might ask yourself what would have happened if those 30,000 jobless men had gathered around factory gates that were not open, but closed.

"CRIME DOESN'T PAY."

It is extremely trite, and sometimes it isn't quite true, to say that crime doesn't pay; but every now and then something happens to indicate that the old saying is pretty generally valid.

In the New York courts the other day appeared one George C. Parker, for years tabbed as "the aristocrat of crookdom." He had been a confidence man for years. Twice he "sold" the Brooklyn bridge to unsuspecting strangers. He used to be known as one of the best dressed men in New York. For a long time he was a heavy spender and a gay liver.

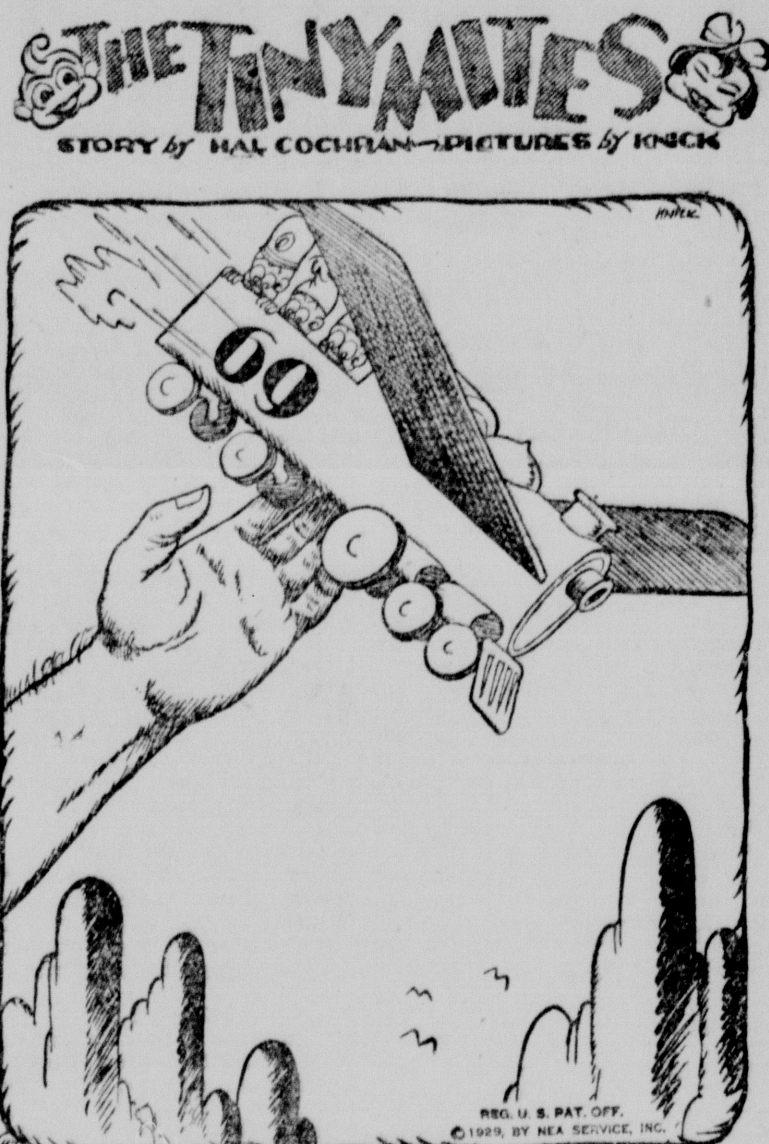

But when he came into court he didn't look as if any of those things had been true. He was old, shabby and discouraged. He was arrested for cashing a worthless check for $150—a sum that would have been small change for him once; and since it was the fourth offense, he was sent to prison for life.

Crime doesn't pay—at least, not always.

The British scientist who says that science soon may be able to create a living robot is a trifle out of date. Muggsy McGraw has been doing that with the New York Giants for years.

A New York woman has insured a cat for $25,000. And if it sings nightly on the fence that isn't a bad investment at all.

Brain operations were resorted to the other day to cure two boys of criminal tendencies. The early spring poetry crop is expected to be undiminished, however.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Well, now I guess we're set to go, and gee, I'll bet we'll travel slow," said Scouty. "With our engine small, it cannot make much speed. But, we don't care. Come on let's fly, and soar around up in the sky. We've loafed down here too long. A real nice trip is what we need."

"You're right," cried Coppy. "All hop in. 'Twill be real sport to take a spin. But first, how will we start the wings to flapping up and down? There is no crank for us to turn. Think hard now, 'cause we strongly yearn to speed away, and travel till we reach some brand new town."

"Don't worry, lads," a voice replied. "The thing to do is hop inside. I'll start your engine going. Why, I do not mind at all." Then up to them there quickly ran a very funny looking man. His arms and legs were long and he was thin, and very tall. Into the engine they all hopped. Before the wings the queer man stopped. "Already now!" he shouted.

Then he pushed the wings real quick. "Up, up, you go," the man exclaimed. "For starting things like this I'm famed." And, sure enough, the engine "rose. It was a clever trick.

"Oh, thanks a lot," one Tiny cried. "We know that we'll enjoy this ride." And soon they sailed right out of sight. The man was left behind. Said Scouty, "My, I like his sort. He's treated us to flying sport. I hope we meet again some day, 'cause he is very kind."

Just at this moment came a thump and Clowzy cried, "What did we bump?" They feared that they were due to fall, and wondered where they'd land. But, though the engine stopped real still, the Times didn't take a spill. And then they saw that they were held in someone's great hand.

The new passenger train schedule has greatly hampered the mail service here. The Chicago papers are now one day behind and the county papers are two days late, while the patrons of the rural routes are still worse. The hours at the postoffice are now 8:00 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and 12:00 noon to 5:30 p. m. The office does not open in the evening. Outgoing mail eastbound, must be in by 11:15 and westbound by 2:05. There is rumor that the railroad will still further curtail our service in the way of freight trains. It will be rather hard to get accustomed to bob-tailed attention which we are to get, but still we cannot blame the railroad, as the same will happen to all business houses in the small towns if the community in which they exist does not give them their patronage.

Grade School Teams Open Their Season

A cheering crowd of over 200 children marked the opening of the Grade School Basketball League Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. While the teams struggled for their victories on the floor, the youthful spectators packed on the bleachers cheered loudly under the direction of very capable cheer-leaders.

The first game, which was between the North Central and South Central teams, was a very interesting one. The Southsiders won by a score of 19 to 10, but the North Central team forced them hard every minute. The South Central had quite an advantage over their opponents in Reynolds who is head and shoulders taller than the others and who scored 13 out of the team's 19 points. The North Central team played a hard, consistent game, with good team work.

The E. C. Smith won from the St. Marys by a score of 21 to 6. However, the score does not do justice to the plucky St. Marys five, who in the first half held the Smith team to a two point lead. The E. C. Smith, strengthened in the second half by Crabtree and Larkins, tripled their score. Crabtree scored highest in the game with 10 points. Henry, of the St. Marys, proved himself a valuable player to his team and a dangerous opponent to the Smith team.

POLITICAL STATUS OF LEGISLATORS IN SHANAHAN'S HANDS

Speaker Hopes to Have Committees Ready for Announcement

BY B. P. BOLTON
Associated Press Staff Writer
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Political status of some one hundred fifty Illinois assemblymen probably will have been determined when they return here Tuesday for the third week of the 56th legislature.

By that time, Speaker David E. Shanahan will have ready or hopes to have ready, the list of committee appointments, than which there is no surer barometer of the relative importance of members in deliberations of the lawmakers.

Not since the last term of the veteran speaker are committees expected to be so well balanced. So far as has been ascertained, Mr. Shanahan has made no promises, and in his own parlance, has "no friends to reward nor enemies to punish." Even the important post of majority floor leader, it is believed, has been promised to no man, although Homer Little of Champaign assumed the reins of leadership on the first day's session two weeks ago and still remains an outstanding contender.

One other post, that of chairman of the committee on appropriations, appears to be certain. If all indications may be trusted, it will go to Rep. Homer Tice of Greenville, as his reward for withdrawing from the race for speaker. Others are expected to be given important places among them Frank McCarthy of Elgin and Elmer Schnackenberg of Chicago.

To Consult Records.
Shanahan has promised that in forming his committees he will consult the previous record of all members, as well as considering their self-expressed preferences. On the minority side, Leader Michael Igoe will consult with the speaker as to Democratic appointments.

If his list is ready next Monday, he will have taken a week less to form the committees than previous speakers have utilized.

When these committees, in whose hands rests the fate of every bill introduced in the legislature, are announced, many of them will have already had work laid out.

Fourteen bills have been presented in the lower house, twelve of them the last day of session, and all except two, which were laid on the speaker's table, have been sent to the appropriate committee.

The judiciary committee will have the Weber-O'Grady bill, calling for repeal of the state search and seizure act; a measure introduced by Rep. Whiteley of Carlinville providing for the filing and recording of conditional sales; Soderstrom's proposal to establish a pension for aged persons; the bill of Rep. King which would make public the names of members of secret organizations; and Rep. Church's companion bill to that of Senator Woods, which would undo the work of the last assembly by repealing the law exemption constitutionally elected officials from ouster by quo warranto.

Schnackenberg's bills designed to bring relief to taxing bodies in Cook county by authorizing expenditures in excess of $10 a day for reassessment experts, were referred to the committee on revenue. Efficiency and economy got Soderstrom's enabling proposal authorizing the state to accept a gift of public land in LaSalle county for use as a park. To the motor vehicles committee was sent Rategan's proposal to force the use of pneumatic tires on motor busses.

The first bill to be considered by the fish and game committee will be Foster's proposal to name the Cardinal-Illinois variety—the state bird. Appropriations received one bill—introduced by McCarthy, appropriating $150,000 for the construction of an armory in Elgin. Election was given the measure brought in by Rep. Foster, allowing sick voters to cast absentee ballots.

Speaker Shanahan took on his able two proposals by Gaines of Chicago, a new members: To force electrification of all railroads operating within Chicago, and to abolish the appointment of park commissioners by circuit judges.

BYRD SOON TO FLY OVER POLE

Composite Picture Shows Interior of Big Plane in Which Daring Explorer Will Undertake Epochal Antarctic Flight

At his base on the Bay of Whales, far down in the frozen antarctic, Commander Richard E. Byrd is completing his preparations for airplane flights over the South Pole and the surrounding country. This remarkable composite picture shows the interior of Byrd's big Ford plane, the artist having sketched the figures on the photograph from printed descriptions. Byrd is shown at the navigator's table and behind him is the extra gasoline tank built in the plane at the factory. In the cockpit are the two pilots. Eskimo dogs and a sled are carried in the plane so the flyers can return to their base in event of a forced landing.

I'M GOING BACK TO THAT OLD HOME TOWN

A happy thought just came to me that I go back once more.
To that old town that used to be my home in days of yore.
She calls me through the distant past and misty veil of years—
A long time since I saw her last—it fills my eyes with tears.

I'll see my best old friends of all, my child-streets and the mill.
The schoolhouse and the maples tall that capped the dear old hill.
The cottage of my mother there, where I was often seen.
And where I'd sit beside her chair upon that grass so green.

It is so long I've been away, I may not know at all
The place I'd been most every day from early spring to fall;
But still the home town calls me and I'm going back once more
To that dear place I used to be in youthful days of yore.

TRIUMVIRATE TO DIRECT NEW YORK G. O. P. ACTIVITY

Named After Series of Conferences With President-Elect

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Placing of Republican political authority in New York state during the next four years in the hands of three leaders was announced today by H. Edmond MacHold, state committee chairman, after he and William H. Hill and Ogden L. Mills, Under-Secretary of the Treasury, had a breakfast conference with President-elect Hoover.

Besides Mr. MacHold and Mr. Hill the third member of the group will be Charles D. Hilles, National Committee chairman, who conferred with Mr. Hoover earlier in the week.

Mr. MacHold is to represent the group in most negotiations with the new President. He said that the three would agree upon recommendations for appointments for federal office before names were submitted to Mr. Hoover for his consideration.

Victory for Hill.
Mr. Hill was head of the independent Hoover-for-President organization in New York state and the agreement on the handling of patronage was regarded as somewhat of a victory for him. Mr. MacHold became state chairman in the last campaign after the death of George Morris.

Under Secretary Mills said the purpose of the Hoover conferences with New York leaders was to reconcile individuals rather than factions. He added that Cabinet appointments were not discussed.

Chairman Reid of the House Flood committee said he had discussed Mississippi flood control with the President-elect as well as steps looking to relieving the flood situation in Florida.

Irrigation and reclamation formed the subject of a conference between Mr. Hoover and Chairman Smith of the House Reclamation committee. Representative Smith said the conversation had been general in its scope.

To Strengthen Lines.
While New York gave its electoral vote to Mr. Hoover last November, it elected a Democratic Governor and returned another Democrat to the United States Senate. As head of the Republican party in the nation, the President-elect naturally desires to see the lines of his own party so strengthened during the next two years that control of the state government may be recaptured.

The patronage situation in the empire state also is regarded as presenting something of a problem to Mr. Hoover. Since both of the senators from New York are Democrats, he must look elsewhere for recommendations for major federal appointments for that state.

Mr. Hoover had a third visit to the White House since his return from his good-will mission on his program tonight. With Mr. Hoover he was to be the dinner President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Al Smith Director In A Trust Company

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith has been elected a director of the County Trust Co. of New York.

James J. Riordan, president of the trust company and friend of the former governor, said the matter of the chairmanship had not been determined and would not be until after the return of Mr. Smith from a vacation in the south.

Should Mr. Smith accept the chairmanship he would have to devote the greater part of his time to the affairs of the trust company, while a mere membership on the board would leave him free to undertake some other commercial venture as his main effort. Directors of the company include William F. Kenney, John J. Raskob and M. J. Meenan, personal friends of Mr. Smith.

BIGGEST THERMOMETER
IS 70 FEET IN LENGTH
Munich.—(AP)—The largest thermometer in the world has been mounted on the tower of the German Museum. On its scale, 22 meters in length, not only the temperature of the moment is recorded, but also the maximum and minimum temperatures of the preceding day.

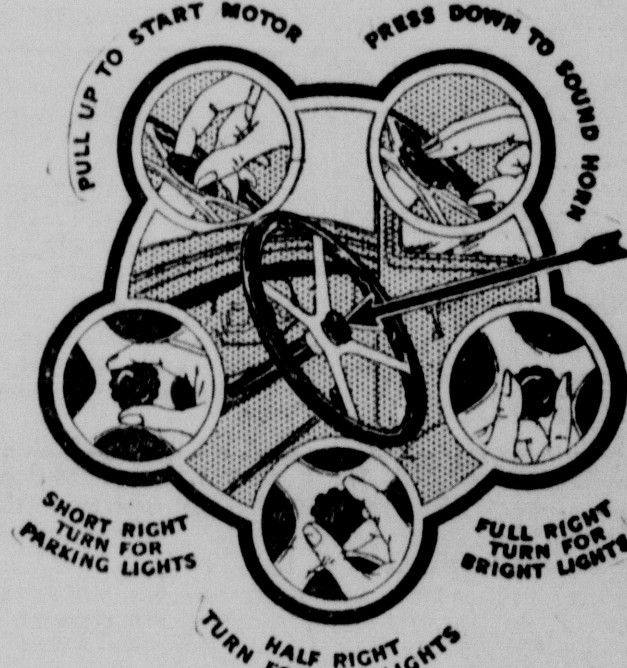

It is regulated by another thermometer of normal size whose indications are transmitted to the superthermometer by an electro-motor.

Greater beauty and improved design in new Whippets and Wilys-Knights

The ultra-modern lines and larger bodies of the new Superior Whippet and winning the enthusiastic praise of four and light six buyers, while the new style Wilys-Knight Six is the largest, most beautiful and most powerful Knight-engined car ever offered at so low a price.

See and examine these superb cars without delay! An immediate order will aid in early delivery.

What it means to you in driving convenience and safety

Wilys-Overland is the first producer of automobiles to equip all its passenger cars and commercial vehicles with the wonderful new "Finger-Tip Control."

A single button, conveniently located in the center of the steering wheel, controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn.

This fundamental improvement does away with all troublesome foot fumbling for the starting button. You can keep your foot always on the brake when starting or re-starting on a hill—an obvious safety advantage of major importance.

"Finger-Tip Control" also avoids changing from the comfortable driving position to reach a light switch on the dash. You can at all times keep your eyes on the road, and the hand that operates the button flashes back to the rim of the wheel in any steering emergency.

ROBINSON HAS WORRIES OVER PITCHING STAFF

Outfield Also Problem for President-Manager of Robins

By BRIAN BELL.

(Associated Press Sports Writer.) New York, Jan. 19—(AP)—President-Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn baseball club must decide on a pitching staff and outfield, the rest of the lineup will take care of itself. The infield is believed to be fairly well arranged with Del Bissanette at first, Jake Flowers taking second, Glenn Wright, the former Pirate, stationed at short, and Walter Gilbert assigned to third. This plan would leave Dave Bancroft, former Boston manager, in the role of utility infielder.

The outfield is not so simple. Max Carey will continue to act as first lieutenant to the manager, but probably will do little playing. Harvey Hendrick and Babe Herman can hit well enough to play on any team in other years their fielding has left something to be desired. Bobbie has definitely decided to abandon thought of having these two sluggers play the infield and they will stand or fall on their outfield performances. Another outfielder brought over from last year is Rube Bressler and the three are numerically strong enough to fill them outposts if they can dispose of a small army of minor league outfielders trying to break in.

With Jess Petty gone to Pittsburgh for Wright, the club of being the club's star southpaw must be contested by "Big Jim" Elliott and Watson Clark. There is no pitcher in sight threatening to wrest the right hand honors from Dazzy Vance. Douglas McWeeny and Rube Ehrhardt will be back again with a flock of young pitchers willing to accept nominations.

One of the trio of 1928 catchers, Hank Deberry, Johnny Gooch and Walter Henline, may be displaced by Alphonse Lopez, who spent a profitable season in 1928 on the Brooklyn farm at Macon.

BREAK BETWEEN BIG TEN AND A. U. ANNOUNCED

Commissioner Griffith of Conference Outlines Position

By PAUL R. MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer.) Chicago, Jan. 18—(AP)—The Western Conference has broken off relations with the Amateur Athletic Union of America and henceforth will conduct its own athletic meets independently. Major John L. Griffith, Conference Athletic Commissioner, revealed today.

The action, which Major Griffith said was agreed to by every member of the Conference, culminates a quarrel between the two organizations, which has been simmering for years but which reached its breaking point this past week when Northwestern University and Ohio State rebelled at A. A. U. policies.

Northwestern decided to break with the A. A. U. when the latter organization refused to sanction a swimming meet between the Purple and the Chicago Athletic Association because several of its swimmers had competed in an unsanctioned meet last summer. Ohio State followed suit yesterday when it decided to run the Ohio Relays without seeking A. A. U. sanction as in the past.

Griffith's Stand "No longer will the Western Conference bend under the yoke of the A. A. U. Major Griffith told The Associated Press. "We are tired of its continual demands and its general attempts to dominate our affairs. Henceforth, we will conduct athletic meets with clubs and teams that we choose and will not pay the regular $10 tribute to obtain the heretofore required sanction."

"The Western Conference is big enough to handle its own athletic affairs. It does not wish to govern; neither does it wish to be governed. Rules, of course, but will be totally independent of A. A. U. domination."

"The A. A. U. was organized years ago with a noble purpose—to foster amateur athletics. During the past decade, however, it has overstepped its bounds and acted as a mauler on the progress of amateur athletics. The Western Conference can brook its interference no longer."

Lomski Victor Over Jersey City Fighter

New York, Jan. 19—(AP)—James J. Braddock, hard punching light heavyweight from Jersey City, has found in the aggressiveness of Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., woodsman, the roughest spot along his road to the top of the division. Lomski forced the fighting all the way in their ten round battle at Madison Square Garden last night and got the decision.

The Jersey lad, who got this shot at big time battling by shooting in one right hand smash that broke Pete Latzo's jaw and following it up with a knockout of Tuffy Griffiths, found he could not land his terrific punch on the stocky westerner. Lomski kept coming to close quarters, evading the dangerous right and pounding Braddock's body with jolting left hooks.

"INDIANA TWINS" IN CLASSIC OF RACE THIS EVE

Leadership of Conference Race Depends on Its Outcome

By PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer.) Chicago, Jan. 19—(AP)—"Stretch" Murphy and his championship-bound Purdue mates, and their old rival, Indiana, meet in the classic struggle of the Big Ten's four game basketball program tonight.

Minnesota invades Wisconsin, Iowa tackles Northwestern and Chicago meets Illinois.

The "Hoosier Twins" are bitter rivals, and the result will change the leadership of the race as Michigan, now tied with Purdue for the pinnacle will be idle. If the Boilermakers win, they will have undisputed leadership. If they lose Michigan will be atop the heap alone.

Although virtually out of the championship scramble because of two defeats, Indiana, which tied with the Boilermakers for the title last year, may stop its rival's rush. A capacity crowd of 8000 is certain to watch the traditional battle.

Wisconsin's rangy team, which rests in third place with three victories and one defeat, is expected to whip Minnesota. The Badgers defeated Minnesota, 29 to 21, in their opening championship game and have been improving rapidly.

Iowa and Northwestern are expected to put revised lineups in the field for their clash at Patten Gymnasium. Frank Marshall star Wildcat guard appears out because of an infection while four of the Hawks are more or less bruised. Iowa's victims are Virgil Davis, Forrest Twookod, Fred Geneva and Royal Plunk.

Chicago, which has lost its three conference games, is expected to fall before Illinois.

The Wolverines who have been the sensation of the championship race, do not get into action again until Feb. 9 when they meet Ohio State.

Ohio State meets its next test next Saturday when it meets Chicago at Columbus. The Buckeyes have been defeated twice.

Nurmi Opens Second Invasion of States

New York, Jan. 19—(AP)—With one of the many records he set during his first American invasion as his objective, Paavo Nurmi, the phantom Finn, opens his second campaign on the board tracks of the United States tonight at the Brooklyn College meet. He has chosen to run his first race at 3,000 yards, a freak distance for which no official record is recognized. The best unofficial mark, 7:46 two-fifths, was made by Nurmi in 1925. The race also will be timed at several intermediate distances.

The opposition for Nurmi will be provided by Ove Anderson, a point winner for Finland in the Olympic games; Gus Moore of the Brooklyn Harris, national cross country champion; Joe Hagen, Columbia cross country star; and Irving Totten, formerly of Union College.

Canzoneri Knocked Out Young Santiago

Chicago, Jan. 19—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri of New York who recently was deposed as featherweight champion, today stood out as a principal threat to Tod Morgan's junior lightweight crown, following his knockout victory over Armando Santiago of Cuba.

Coming back after being pounded to the floor for a seven count in the first round, Canzoneri knocked out Santiago in the fifth round of their bout at the Coliseum last night. The victory stopped the sensational rise of the Cuban, who knocked out Canzoneri's old rival, Joe Sanger, in the same ring last December.

Promoter Jim Mullen announced that Canzoneri and Sanger will meet here February 6 with the winner virtually assured of a shot at Morgan's crown.

BITS OF WASHINGTON GOSSIP

By JOHN H. BYERS
Secretary to Congressman W. J. Johnson

Washington, January 18—Washington thermometers registered 24 above today.

President-elect Hoover will soon be on his way to Florida for a rest. He is busy with callers who are telling him what to do and when to do it. Everyone, but Mr. Hoover, is picking the cabinet.

Washington has a man who says he has the finest mother-in-law in the world. He was brought into court today for slapping his wife's face.

Soon after he enters the White House Mr. Hoover will appoint a commission to handle the prohibition problems and the enforcement proposition. At least, that is what the news writers tell through the papers.

An appropriation bill reported to the House carries the sum of $499,975,000 to take care of the problems of World War Veterans for next year. Of this sum $191,450,000 will be for military and naval compensation.

Eighty-five cases of flu were reported to the District Health Department today and one death.

Virginia Educational Association Convention was attended by 3,000 teachers.

Thirteen babies were born in Washington since yesterday. Seven were girls. There was one pair of twins.

Thirty-four deaths were reported since yesterday in Washington.

Berlin, Germany, now has 50,000 persons engaged in the film industry.

Boston's school department has spent $26,500,000 for land, plans, construction and equipment in the last 10 years.

The British national debt was reduced by nearly $35,000,000 in the past year.

New York's first woman minister, Miss Louise E. Eby, was ordained the other day at the Broadway Congregational Tabernacle.

The German air service is said to be organized on a basis which compares favorably with the railroad service. Tempelhof Field at the German capital is a vast terminal, with all modern equipment, where 36 planes arrived or departed every day during the past flying season. More than 100,000 passengers were carried, besides a large quantity of mail, baggage and freight. The accident percentage was quite low, although there were two rather serious accidents.

In 12 States there is no statutory provision requiring auto drivers of any class to be licensed.

Senator Curtis, vice president-elect, who has been ill for several days, attended the Senate session today. Four or five senators are ill with the flu. Several House members are very ill with the same trouble.

Treasurer Lewis of Pennsylvania estimates that next year's revenues available for highway purposes will go higher than $32,600,000. Illinois will do better than that.

The Post Office Department has given its approval to a new air mail service to Port-au-Prince, Haiti, beginning January 21.

An effort is being made to have the House Committee on Military Affairs to report a bill covering Muscle Shoals. Persons interested want the Madden bill. Congressman Johnson is the member from Illinois.

Twenty-three new books were received by the Library of Congress today.

The Department of Commerce says that the production of soft coal during the week ended January 5 was greater than during Christmas week. During the week ended January 5, 9,876,000 tons were mined. The total production of anthracite during this week was 1,178,000 tons.

ports Mr. Hoover is a fine fellow, a good listener, and does not say any thing. Representative Homer Hall of Bloomington called on the next president Wednesday afternoon. Same report as Holliday—a wonderful Bloomington named as Secretary of Agriculture. He told Mr. Hoover so, and Mr. Hoover listened.

It is now all set for Mr. Hoover and his office force to leave Washington next Monday morning for Miami, Florida. There he will complete his cabinet selections.

Mellon for Secretary of the Treasury. Donovan for Attorney General. That's what Washington politicians say. Mr. Hoover says nothing.

After Senator Curtis is inaugurated on March 4, vice president he will be at the Mayflower. The Curtis suite is on the tenth floor and his daughter will be his hostess. Mrs. Curtis died some time ago.

Miss Amelia Earhart, the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, is in Washington. She will tell her story at the Washington Auditorium tomorrow night.

The birds most abundant in the United States are the robin and the English sparrow.

Lizard skins from India may be introduced into this country for commercial purposes.

The Isle of Man is to be finally connected with the continent of Europe by telephone.

During the calendar year ended December 31, 1928, a total of 6,331 commercial vessels, paying tolls aggregating $26,275,962.41 transited the Panama Canal.

The total number of cases of influenza reported to the United States Public Health Service for the week ended December 29, 1928, was about 160,000, while the preceding week about 250,000 cases were reported. There were 7,555 cases reported from Illinois.

The Annual Report of the Public Printer shows: Of the total funds available for the last eight years, $7,339,242.07 were returned to the Treasury unexpended.

The total amount of salaries and wages earned during the year 1928 was $8,541,605.81. Printing the issues of the daily record of Congress required 1,940,000 pounds of newspaper paper.

Senators and members of the "house paid the Public Printer a total of $63,266.19 for reprinting from the Record 17,191,250 copies of their speeches for personal distribution during the fiscal year 1928.

The total number of all kinds of prints of bills and resolutions was 29,022, or an average of 220 for each day of the first session of the Seventieth Congress.

400,000 copies of the Agriculture Yearbook are printed annually, and of this number 360,000 are distributed by members of Congress. The Yearbooks, printed in 1928 cost $315,920.63.

In the fiscal year 1928, the total number of Farmers' Bulletins printed was 11,166,115, costing $150,595.16.

The number of postal cards printed for the Post Office Department in 1928 totaled 1,726,324,392.

The Commissioner of Patents reports an income to the Government of more than $28,000 a month from the sale of patent specifications at 10 cents per copy. The number sold by him in 1928 was 3,452,829 copies.

About the biggest job printed annually for the Treasury Department is that of income-tax blanks, of which 50,335,000 were printed in 1928, a decrease of 2,714,500 from the total number of income-tax blanks printed in 1927.

The amount of paper delivered to the Government Printing Office during the year was 45,196,912 pounds. The daily pay roll of the Government Printing Office is approximately $28,460.

The following information concerning cotton will not be amiss. I get my information from the Bulletin 164, issued by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

The supply of lint cotton in the United States for the year ending July 31, 1928, compiled from data of stocks carried over from the preceding year imports and ginnings, amounted to 16,792,625 bales, and the distribution, made up of exports, consumption and stocks carried over to the new season, to 16,919,870 bales.

Of the total distribution of cotton for the year, 8,834 bales, or 40.5 per cent, including the quantity destroyed by fire, were consumed in this country; 7,529, 335 bales, or 44.5 per cent were exported; and 2,556,472 bales, 15 percent, remained in this country at the close of the year.

The total quantity of cotton imported into the United States during the year ending July 31, 1928, amounted to 338,226 equivalent bales of 500 lbs. each. Most of the imported cotton consumed in this country is Egyptian, which is used largely for mercerizing and in the manufacture of thread, knit goods, lace and automobile tires. During the past year 22,643 bales of Mexican cotton were imported. The importation of Chinese cotton during the year amounted to 62,888 bales. This is a low grade cotton. Cotton was also imported from a number of other countries, among which Peru, India, Brazil and West Indies.

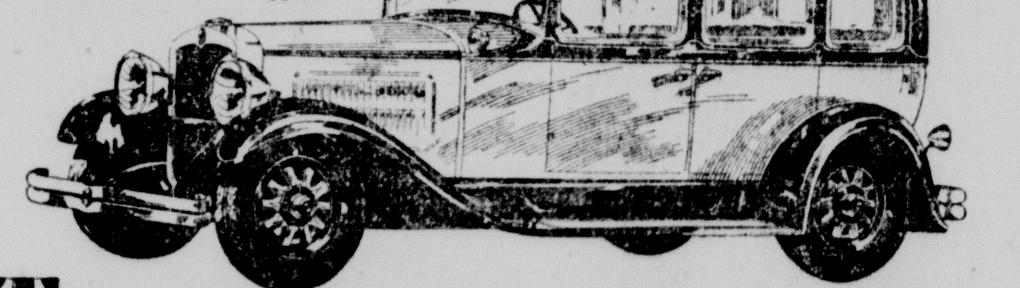

The four most important cotton ports in order of net receipts, are Houston, Galveston, New Orleans and Savannah, and their net receipts during the year ending July 31, 1928, amounted to 7,022,434 bales, or 51.4 percent of the total quantity from the crop of 1927.

The total quantity exported during the year ending June 30, 1928, amounted to 8,120,191 bales of 500 pounds each, valued $20,537,294. Of this cotton, 2,221,964 bales, or 27.4 per cent, were exported to Germany; 1,454,534 bales, or 18 percent, to the United Kingdom; 1,007,351 bales to Japan; 960,624 bales to France, and 714,529 bales to Italy.

There are approximately 2,000,000 cotton growers in this country; 17,000 ginneries; 700 cottonseed oil mills; 30,000 public storage places, and 2,600 cotton consuming establishments.

NEW STORE HERE TO BE LAST WORD OFFICIALS STATE

Scott Stores Planning Ultra-Modern Shopping Center Here

News has come to this office from the headquarters of the Scott Stores at Chicago to the effect that this company has leased the E. J. Ferguson property at 215 First street, and about April 1, remodeling will start on what the owners claim will be the finest store of its kind in this part of the state.

Scott Stores is a new company but it already has several stores in different parts of the country. All of them handle general merchandise lines and sell only the 5c to $1.00 items. This type of store has been successful everywhere and will be welcomed by the entire community.

The new store, when completed, will be a splendid addition to the business district. It will be a model store and new from front to back. No expense is to be spared in making it a shopping center of the utmost convenience and beauty. It will be 115 feet long and 48 feet wide.

"Floor plans have been completed," an official of the company said "and work will be started as soon as we gain possession."

COMPLETELY CHANGED
"Our plans call for extensive interior changes as well as a new front," he said, "in fact, the entire store will be made over. By removing shelves and putting in modern counters the space for merchandise will be about doubled."

"There will be a total of over 900 feet of counter space. The walls and ceiling will be done over. Artistic panels, seven feet high will replace the shelving and above them the walls will be plastered and finished in cream enamel. The ceiling will be metal with decorative designs and cornices and will match the walls."

"The comfort and convenience of the shopper are well taken care of in the plans for the new store. The aisles will be wide—the large one through the center being twice the ordinary width. New lighting, free from all glare will flood the room. Electric fans will keep the store cool in the warmest weather. All radiators will be at the ends of the counters."

"The basement of the store will be completely made over as well as the store proper. Here will be located the receiving room with a merchandise chute connecting it with the receiving platform. There will be lockers and rest rooms for the sales people and a fixture room for storing display material."

"A candy elevator will connect the candy stock section with the modern, sanitary candy counters at the front of the store."

"When the interior work is completed and the formal opening is held the people of Dixon will inspect a store that is the last word in shopping convenience. And not only will the store itself be one of which we are proud of but the store front will be one that will advertise the town and draw trade from passing motorists."

Ultra Modern Front
"There will be four large show windows and three double doors. The front will be of the newest type which means that of the heavy plate glass windows set in a solid copper front. The floor of the windows will be wood mosaic and window interior will be illuminated with batteries of powerful reflector lamps. The sloping entry-ways will probably be paved with carborundum tile."

"The formal opening of the new store will take place on or about June 1. The manager and his staff on that day hope to meet all the people of Dixon and neighboring communities and show them the store and its new stock," added the representative of the firm.

"There will be on display upwards of 500 separate merchandise items in about 20 different departments. Everyone will be shown how first class store of this type is able to handle hundreds of customers at one time without delay. Whether it is a staple every day or a last minute novelty, if it is priced between 5c and $1.00 the store expects to have it."

"When the new Scott Store is ready, it will offer employment to several Dixon young men and women. During the holiday and rush periods many more local people will be needed."

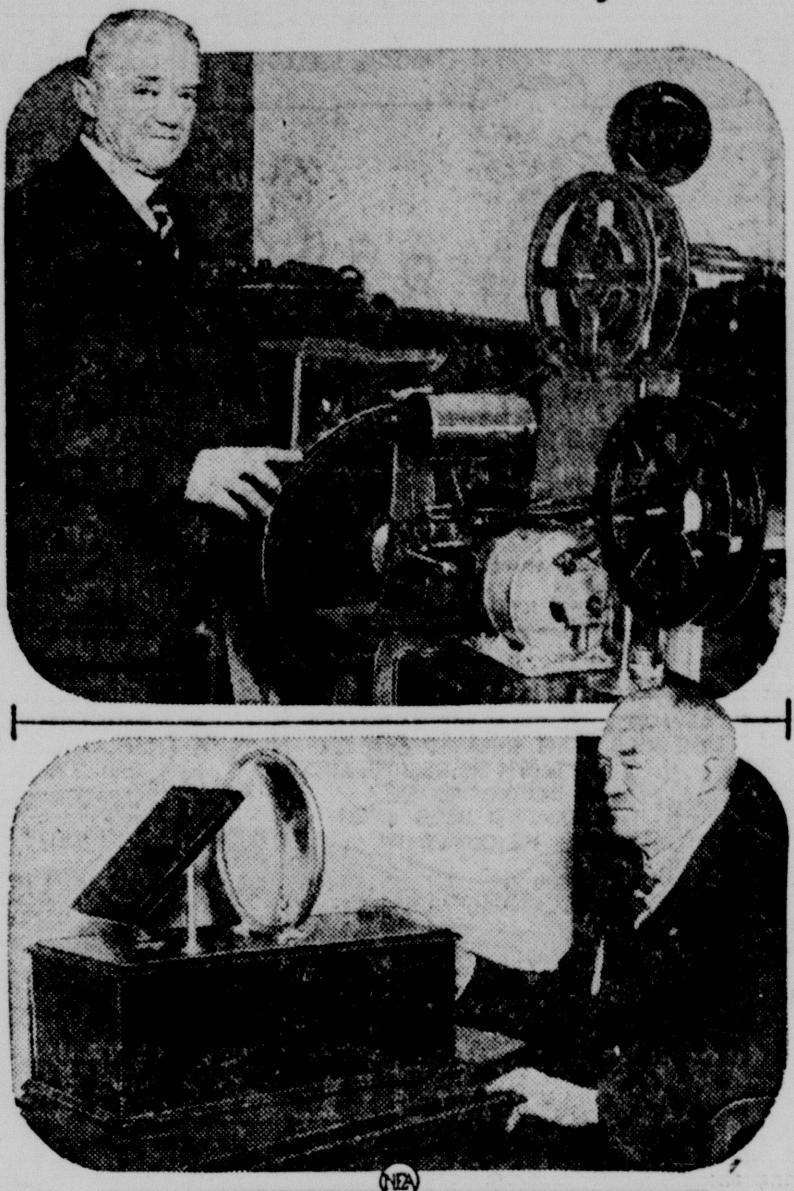

Before selecting Dixon as the location for its store in this trading area, Scott Stores conducted a thorough investigation. The wonderful prospects for future growth and the apparent civic pride and community spirit found in this city proved to the officials of the company that it was the logical location for one of their first stores.

The new store, they say, will be the equal of those in the larger cities. It will offer the same merchandise at identical and often lower prices than the large city stores.

VERY NICE JOB
Paris—M. Schultz, 32, has a very nice job. He is the champion wine taster of France. He recently won a contest, against 94 others, in which it was necessary to sample many kinds of wine, tell what vintage it was from where it came and what price it should bring. Despite Schultz's occupation, he is a 'dry,' never touch-liquor except when on his "testing" carousals.

Radio Movies Ready

C. Francis Jenkins, noted Washington inventor, revealed to the Federal Radio Commission that he was prepared to supply broadcasters and radio fans of the country with his new apparatus for the transmission and reception of radio movies. This includes television, except that scenes are not transmitted direct. They are first taken on a strip of film, sound and all, from which copies are made for distribution to various broadcasters. Then the scenes or plays are broadcast by means of the apparatus at which Jenkins is shown standing, while the fan receives them through the receiver shown in the lower view.

NEWS of the CHURCHES

ST. PAUL'S EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Lloyd Warren Walter, pastor.
Rev. Carl B. Caughman, pastor in India.

9:30 a. m. Bible School. We are appealing to the fathers and mothers to come with their boys and girls who belong to the Primary and Junior departments.

We do not want them to miss on account of the lessons which belong together. To miss one is to lose a link out of the chain. All members of the school should be faithful.

10:45 a. m. Divine Worship. Even of greater importance is your presence at this service and your spirit of praise, prayer and thanksgiving. It will be felt throughout the whole week. All your experiences of every day shall know the touch of His presence. The joy of worship is yet to be learned by many Christian people. Sermon topic, "This Voice From Heaven."

2:30 p. m. Sugar Grove appointment with Bible School at 1:30 p. m.
6:30 p. m. Luther League. More loyalty, earnest prayer, regular attendance, faithful and regular Bible study by our young people will mean a larger League and greater joy for all. The topic is: "Seeing the Good in Men Everywhere." Leader: Lillian Schick. Come, be on time, take part in the meeting.

7:30 p. m. Vesper Service. You will enjoy our evening worship. There is beautiful music, a spirit of warmth, and pleasing fellowship. Sermon topic: "A Certain Centurian's Servant."

7:30 p. m. Monday Brotherhood meets. Plans will be perfected and completed for the Fathers' and Sons' banquet to be held Monday, Jan. 28.

FOUNDED in 1855, this Institution has played an important part in the development of this community. From the first days of its incorporation it has been imbued with the spirit of service and its development has kept pace with the constantly expanding needs of its customers. By reason of this fact its many friends are sincerely loyal to the Institution.

UNCLE SAM WILL SEND MAIL INTO LEE CO. BY TRUCK

Plans Twice - A - Day Service For Brooklyn, Compton and Pawpaw

Owing to the change in train service furnished Paw Paw, Compton and West Brooklyn by the Burlington railroad, a new arrangement for getting the mail to those villages will be put in effect, the new train schedule getting the mail there too late the same day it arrives. The situation is so unsatisfactory that numerous citizens of the three places have filed complaint with the postal authorities, which resulted in an inspector from the Chicago headquarters visiting those towns this week.

As a result of his investigation it has been decided that the best distribution of mail to the three Lee county towns can be made out of Mendota and it is planned to have delivery to the towns from Mendota made by auto truck, there being a concrete state highway from Mendota to West Brooklyn and Compton and a good gravel road from the latter place to Paw Paw. Bids on this truck service has been asked, secured and forwarded to the post-office department at Washington.

It is planned to have a truck leave Mendota at 6:00 a. m., daily except Sunday, arriving at West Brooklyn at 6:25 a. m.; Compton at 6:40 and Paw Paw at 7:00. Returning the truck will leave Paw Paw at once, arriving at Compton at 7:30, West Brooklyn at 7:45 and Mendota at 8:15 a. m.

A second delivery would be made in the afternoon, leaving Mendota at 3:15 p. m.; West Brooklyn at 3:40; Compton at 3:55 and arriving at Paw Paw at 4:15. Returning it would leave Paw Paw at 4:30; Compton at 4:45; West Brooklyn at 5:00 and arriving at Mendota at 5:30. At Mendota connection will be made with all C. B. & Q. and I. O. mail trains.

NO CLUE TO MURDER.
Sullivan, Ind., Jan. 18.—Edgar D. Maple, vice president of the Peoples National Bank & Trust Co., who was found shot to death in the bank Wednesday morning, was slain by an unknown person, W. H. McGrew, Sullivan County Coroner held in a verdict returned today.

Studebaker announces a new World Champion President Eight ... of greater power, beauty and luxury

$1785

at the factory

AT THE moment when eager eyes turn to the newest offerings of American automotive genius, Studebaker announces a surpassing achievement—a new and finer world champion President Eight!

In riding ease, roadability and good manners the new President Eight is not excelled by any car at any price. A motor car priced in a range where such performance, such luxury, such beauty of coachcraft and color, have never sold before!

30,000 Miles in 26,326 Minutes

The great President Eight has officially demonstrated more speed, and more capacity for maintaining that speed, than any other regular factory production car the world has ever known. No handiwork of man ever underwent so heroic a test—ever traveled so far so fast. The President Eight today holds every official speed and endurance record for fully equipped stock cars.

The Eight is THE Car. This is THE Eight!

Today's motor car is the eight! At the recent Paris Salon de l'Automobile—at the Olympia Motor Show in London—on the boulevards and highways of America during the past twelve months, the trend of motor car demand has been unmistakably to the straight eight.

It has been Studebaker's privilege, through providing the first truly great eight of moderate cost, to be the standard-bearer of the industry in the swing toward this finer, more flexible, more suave and pliant transportation. Dramatically and sensationally Studebaker's President Eight led the way.

NEW PRESIDENT EIGHT BROUGHTON FOR FIVE—Six wire wheels and trunk are standard equipment—$2350 at the factory. Equipment, other than standard, extra.

Recognition was immediate. Less than six months after its introduction, this champion car outsold every other eight in the world!

But the engineering genius which created such a car could not rest idly on its laurels. Hence today, Studebaker presents a still greater President Eight—the triumphantly successful product of Studebaker's research laboratories and million-dollar Proving Ground.

This new President Eight is as near to a perfect motor car mechanically as champion-builders can make it. It is a large car—but not bulky. It is a genuinely beautiful car—a smart car—with good taste in every line and in all its appointments. It is a fast car, and enduring—proved beyond cavil. Its manners and its comforts await your appraisal in Studebaker showrooms today throughout the land. Come, drive a champion!

Rev. Norris' Church Burns

Two tubs and a jug that had contained gasoline were found in the ruins of the First Baptist church at Fort Worth, Texas, destroyed by fire. Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the church and celebrated fundamentalist, says he has no idea how the fire originated. The district attorney's office is investigating on the theory that the fire was of incendiary origin. The picture shows the still smoking ruins.

Says Two-Bit Eagle Flies Wrong

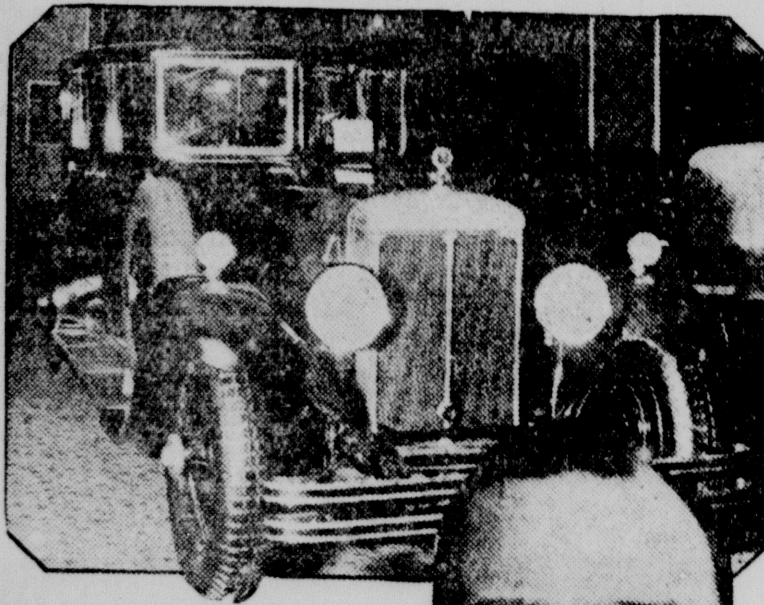

No sir! An eagle can't fly the way that one does on the silver quarter jingling in your pocket. The man who says so is Captain G. W. R. Wright, well known ornithologist. The captain is pictured here as he arrived in New York with a golden eagle that he brought overseas with him to prove that the man who designed the U. S. quarter dollar is all damp. Betcha two bits he's right, too!

District Attorney Keyes on Trial

Ass Keyes, until recently district attorney of Los Angeles, and widely known as the prosecutor of scores of famous cases during his 25 years in the district attorney's office, is now on trial himself, charged with accepting bribes to "fix" the Julian oil scandal. Here Keyes (left) and his attorney, Paul Schenck, are checking up on legal points at the trial table.

TRAINED WOLVES

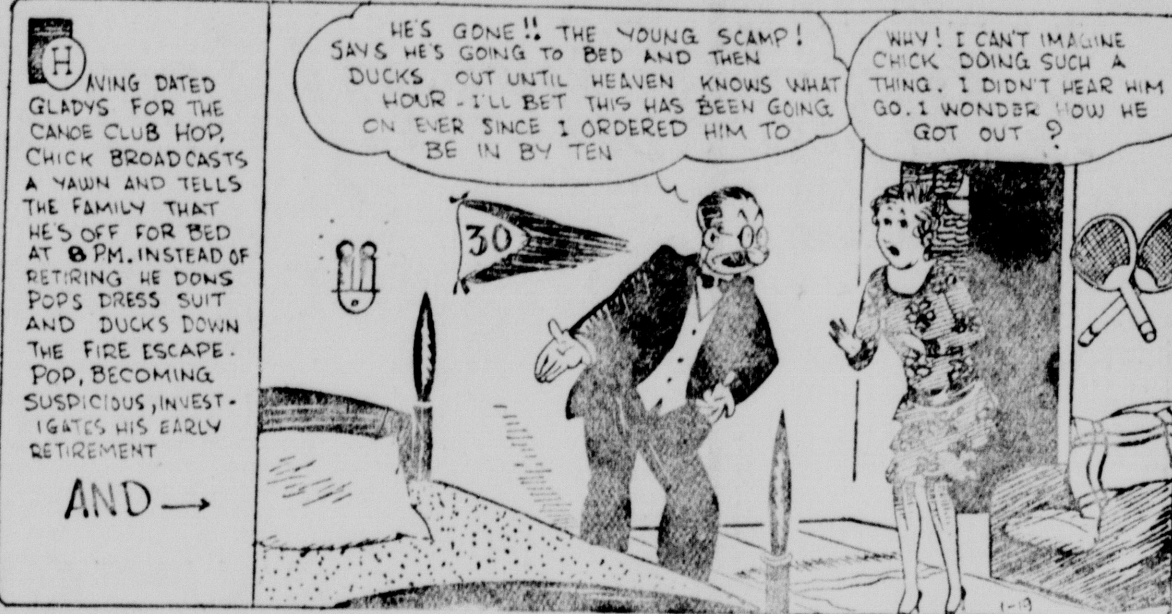

Cobalt, Ont.—Two wolves, trained in Hollywood and imported by Burcen Pictures for star roles in a movie being filmed at the mouth of the Kipawa river, are victims to an overwhelming desire for chicken meat and a farmer's shotgun. The animals left their cages at Ville Marie, headed for a nearby chicken yard and were brought to earth by the alert farmer shortly after the raid.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

All sorts of things are happening to ASHTORETH ASH. First, she gets herself engaged to a multi-millionaire—the famous HOLLY HART. Then an ex-sweetheart, MONTY ENGLISH, appears upon the scene.

Ashtoreth leaves Hollis in New York, and returns by train to Boston, following their arrival in America from Europe to the West Indies. Hollis means to fly to Boston.

When Ashtoreth reaches home, she learns that Monty is also flying that night to Boston, determined, he wires, to see her on an important matter.

Ashtoreth and her mother, with SADIE MORTON, are listening to the radio when the broadcaster of the BOSTON NEWS announces that a plane, in flight from New York to Boston, has been lost.

Mrs. Ashe telephones the paper for further information, and learns something else from the city editor.

The News has received information about Hollis Hart and Ashtoreth. There has been a scandalous story already printed in late afternoon papers in New York. The Boston papers will have it next morning.

Mrs. Ashe, heartbroken and almost, appeals to her daughter. "It isn't true, what he says! Say it isn't true, Ashtoreth!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII

ASHTORETH faced them like an outraged goddess. Tall and slim, and white as marble.

"It's a lie, of course," she said. "Was Hollis there?" demanded Sadie shrewdly.

"Yes, he was there," Ashtoreth turned on her defiantly. "But you know perfectly well, Sadie, that everything was all right."

"Yeah!" Sadie jeered roughly. "I know you're a dam' sight smarter than I am—that's what I know. And not a dam' bit better. Just smarter, that's all."

Maizie turned on her like a termagant. "None of that!" she ordered. "None of your cheap talk, Sadie! Morton!"

But Sadie would not be silenced. "Ask her about the tropical island! Ask her about the tropical island! Ask her about the tropical island!"

"See here!" Ashtoreth turned on them proudly. "Hollis and I are engaged. We're going to be married. . . . Suddenly she grew tense, and her chin dropped in a frightened sort of way. . . . 'He's flying over from New York,' she said. 'That's why I was so worried. Mums. He—he—may be dead!'"

"Maybe!" Sadie was still and unfeeling. And her voice pierced like a cruel shaft. "That would be a good break, wouldn't it, Ash? Dead men tell no tales. They don't even deny engagements. Why don't you say he married you, Ash? You'd better wait, though—he might be alive, you know. Maybe it was only Monty that got killed. The poor sucker!"

Maizie clapped her hand roughly over the girl's painted mouth.

"No more of that for you, young lady! You're a guest in my house, and I don't want to have to put you out."

Sadie subsided, with a final shot. . . . "Where's your ring, Ash? I never knew a millionaire that didn't give a girl a diamond!"

Maizie was quieter now. "Mr. Burton is going to call back in 10 minutes," she said. "I told him we'd have a statement for him. Is it true, Ashtoreth, that Mr. Hart has asked you to marry him?"

"Of course it is, Mother. But we weren't going to say anything about it."

"I bet you weren't!" interrupted Sadie.

"I wanted to tell you first," continued Ashtoreth. "Hollis said there'd be an awful lot of publicity, and we would both hate that. We didn't mean to make any announcement at all."

"Do you love him, Ashtoreth?" Maizie was half a head shorter than her daughter. But she put her hand back and searched her child's eyes. And she put her plump hands on Ashtoreth's slim shoulders and held them firmly.

"You love him better than Monty? You didn't promise him because he was rich? It's him you love, Ashtoreth—not his money?"

"Of course I love him!" Ashtoreth spoke sharply. "But, Mums, I don't want to announce our engagement without his knowledge. Maybe he's at the club now. I was to telephone him there. I asked him not to call me. I'll try to get him now."

Maizie shook her head. "Mr. Burton said he wasn't in Boston," she said. "They'd tried everywhere. Burton said he left the boat in New York and registered at the Ritz. He checked out a few hours later. Then he dropped from sight. They've been watching the trains. His valet hasn't heard from him, or his chauffeur. They couldn't get any information from his office."

Ashtoreth moaned. "Then he took the missing plane," she said quietly. "And Monty, I think, is with him."

Sadie laughed harshly. "It isn't every girl who has a couple of lovers don't a nose dive together," she observed. "Just like the movies, Mrs. Ash!"

Ashtoreth turned her back on the girl and spoke to her mother.

"I'll tell you all the details later Mums," she promised. "But I should think it would be enough for the papers if you said I met Mr. Hart, quite by accident, on a trip to the West Indies. That I visited his plantation at Dominica and returned today to Boston."

"What about the engagement?" interrupted Maizie.

"Oh, dear—I don't know what to say! What is it society people say when the newspapers anticipate announcements? I know!—tell them you've no statement to make. That you refuse to be interviewed."

"And I'll tell him—" Maizie warned to the subject—"that if he prints one word that isn't true we'll sue for defamation of character."

"Hear! Hear!" applauded Sadie. "I've a darn good mind to make a statement myself. . . . Tell him, Mrs. Ashe, that Miss Morton, a friend of your daughter's, is filing suit against Mr. Hart. . . . I'll give him a good story!"

"Sadie!" Ashtoreth's tone was threatening. "If you caused a thing like that to be published, Mr. Hart could send you to jail for the rest of your life."

"He could not!"

"He could not!"

"Oh, yes he could," insisted Ashtoreth. "You haven't any case against him, and you know it. You'll never be able to get a lawyer to bring suit, and Mr. Hart could have you arrested for threatening him."

"I bet you weren't!" interrupted Sadie.

"I wanted to tell you first," continued Ashtoreth. "Hollis said there'd be an awful lot of publicity, and we would both hate that. We didn't mean to make any announcement at all."

"Of course I love him!" Ashtoreth spoke sharply. "But, Mums, I don't want to announce our engagement without his knowledge. Maybe he's at the club now. I was to telephone him there. I asked him not to call me. I'll try to get him now."

Maizie shook her head. "Mr. Burton said he wasn't in Boston," she said. "They'd tried everywhere. Burton said he left the boat in New York and registered at the Ritz. He checked out a few hours later. Then he dropped from sight. They've been watching the trains. His valet hasn't heard from him, or his chauffeur. They couldn't get any information from his office."

Ashtoreth moaned. "Then he took the missing plane," she said quietly. "And Monty, I think, is with him."

Sadie laughed harshly. "It isn't every girl who has a couple of lovers don't a nose dive together," she observed. "Just like the movies, Mrs. Ash!"

Ashtoreth turned her back on the girl and spoke to her mother.

"I'll tell you all the details later Mums," she promised. "But I should think it would be enough for the papers if you said I met Mr. Hart, quite by accident, on a trip to the West Indies. That I visited his plantation at Dominica and returned today to Boston."

"What about the engagement?" interrupted Maizie.

"Oh, dear—I don't know what to say! What is it society people say when the newspapers anticipate announcements? I know!—tell them you've no statement to make. That you refuse to be interviewed."

"And I'll tell him—" Maizie warned to the subject—"that if he prints one word that isn't true we'll sue for defamation of character."

"Hear! Hear!" applauded Sadie. "I've a darn good mind to make a statement myself. . . . Tell him, Mrs. Ashe, that Miss Morton, a friend of your daughter's, is filing suit against Mr. Hart. . . . I'll give him a good story!"

"Sadie!" Ashtoreth's tone was threatening. "If you caused a thing like that to be published, Mr. Hart could send you to jail for the rest of your life."

"He could not!"

"Oh, yes he could," insisted Ashtoreth. "You haven't any case against him, and you know it. You'll never be able to get a lawyer to bring suit, and Mr. Hart could have you arrested for threatening him."

"I bet you weren't!" interrupted Sadie.

"I wanted to tell you first," continued Ashtoreth. "Hollis said there'd be an awful lot of publicity, and we would both hate that. We didn't mean to make any announcement at all."

"Do you love him, Ashtoreth?" Maizie was half a head shorter than her daughter. But she put her hand back and searched her child's eyes. And she put her plump hands on Ashtoreth's slim shoulders and held them firmly.

"You love him better than Monty? You didn't promise him because he was rich? It's him you love, Ashtoreth—not his money?"

"Of course I love him!" Ashtoreth spoke sharply. "But, Mums, I don't want to announce our engagement without his knowledge. Maybe he's at the club now. I was to telephone him there. I asked him not to call me. I'll try to get him now."

"Sadie!" Ashtoreth's tone was threatening. "If you caused a thing like that to be published, Mr. Hart could send you to jail for the rest of your life."

"He could not!"

"Oh, yes he could," insisted Ashtoreth. "You haven't any case against him, and you know it. You'll never be able to get a lawyer to bring suit, and Mr. Hart could have you arrested for threatening him."

"I didn't, Ash—I'm just a egg—that's all. But, honest, Ash I didn't. You just sort of got my goat—that's all."

Now Maizie was crying, with her arms about Ashtoreth. And Ashtoreth, over her mother's shoulders was blinking through a haze of tears.

"Here, pipe down, you two! Sadie was in command of the field again. "Cut it out. What do you think this is—a bawling fest? Oh, my gosh, there's that phone again!"

Ashtoreth answered, choking back a sob.

"Yes—this is Kenmore 05103 Connecticut calling!"

FRANKLIN GROVE
NEWS NOTES

Franklin Grove — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stultz and son Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stultz went to Lighthouse Thursday to attend the funeral of Mr. Stultz' nephew, George Stultz, Jr., son of George Stultz, a brother to Harry. ## "They Shall Not Pass!"

"They shall not pass!" declared Admiral F. C. Bullard, right, speaking of liquor smugglers who ply across the Canadian border. "All right, we'll see what we can do about it," said Dr. O. D. Skelton, of Canada, Under Secretary for External Affairs. So here they're shown at Ottawa, Canada, where they and their respective delegations are trying to come to an agreement regarding amendment of the anti-smuggling treaty of 1924.

Withey. A few items of interest from the secretary's report:

Insurance ..... 10.10
F. D. Kelley books ..... 111.64
Harpers Magazine ..... 1.00

Yearly circulation of books for 1921 was 4,065. Membership—143. Books added—116. Play netted $121.88.

The above report shows very clearly that the officers and committees are doing a splendid work that the library may be maintained. All of the ladies give their time, their efforts and their hours for no return whatever. The librarian, Miss Lahnman, is the only paid one. On each month these ladies meet and many times during the year special meetings are called. It means much hard work for someone. Is the library generally appreciated? Do folks who are not members realize how small a fee it is for a year? Fifty cents a year will give the privilege of two books a week. That boy or girl should have the privilege the library affords. There are any amount of reference books for the school children. Let's get together and boost the library. If there is a certain book you will like to have placed in the library submit that

Stockholders Meeting

The Franklin Grove bank held their annual meeting of stockholders in the bank office January 7. The directors and officers remain the same as last year, namely: Directors—W. C. Durkes, Fred H. Hausen, L. L. Durkes, L. A. Trotter and C. W. Lahnman. President—W. C. Durkes; Vice President—Fred H. Hausen; Cashier—L. L. Durkes; Assistant Cashier—Frank Senger. The bank was established in 1880. It has experienced another profitable year and for many years has paid a substantial semi-annual dividend. Last year the bank had net earnings of twenty per cent on its capital stock and paid the usual dividend of ten per cent a year.

Society Events
Kilo Club, January 22nd; Committee, Mrs. Delia Gilbert, Mrs. Edith Morgan, Mrs. Kathryn Cover, Mrs. Grace Stultz and Mrs. Flora Timothy. Priscilla Club met Friday with Mrs. A. W. Dysart.

Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church, January 24. Hostesses, Mrs. P. M. Banker and Mrs. Grace Withey.

Praise for J. H. Bratton
From the West Chicago Press, we clip the following item: "G. Arthur Williams, formerly of Hawks Spring, Wyoming, has been appointed assistant roadmaster on the Galena division of the Northwestern Railroad, with headquarters here and working under Roadmaster J. H. Bratton. Mr. Williams, who is a son of the general manager of the Union Pacific Ry., came here to learn the practical side of that particular branch of work as a part of his training for an official position on the Union Pacific. A high Northwestern official told Mr. Williams that working under Mr. Bratton he was learning under the best roadmaster on the Northwestern Ry." J. H. Bratton is better known here as Howard Bratton, son of George Bratton of this place. Howard is a former Franklin Grove boy, who worked on the section here and was appointed foreman, later promoted to DeKalb and later roadmaster. We agree with the Press "a neat but well deserved compliment" as all his friends here also agree.

Shippers Association
Saturday afternoon the annual meeting of the Franklin Grove Shippers Association was held in Kersten hall. An excellent attendance enjoyed the meeting and profited thereby. The business of the meeting consisted of the election of one new director, Walter D. Beachley, for three years; and George Canfield for one year, to serve for the unexpired term due to the resignation of Charles Pluister, who is moving soon from this community. Several speeches were made, the one of most importance being that of D. L. Swanson of the Producers Association of Chicago on co-operation in shipping. Mr. Yale of Amboy, the Lee County Farm Adviser, spoke also favoring and advising farmers to ship by rail instead of trucking their products to market.

Buried Here Sunday.
Mrs. Melinda Wilkerson, sister of Fred Eberly of this place, died Friday in the Sterling hospital, after several months illness at that place. Mrs. Wilkerson formerly resided at this place, but for a number of years after her marriage made her home in Galt, where her husband preceded here in death. For three or four years she was afflicted with cancer under her left arm and was removed to the Sterling hospital several months prior to her demise. The deceased was a kind, contented and helpful friend, a neighbor well liked, always ready with thoughtful service, and an uncompromising patient sufferer in all her affliction. The remains were brought to this place for burial in the Franklin cemetery Sunday noon, Rev. Tavener of the Methodist church officiating.

Supper Postponed
Owing to the extreme cold weather, and icy walks the Aid Society of the Methodist church postponed their church night supper which was to have been held Tuesday night. No definite plans have been made as yet when the supper will be held. The date of same will appear in this column when decided upon.

Mothers And Daughters
What about a Mothers and Daughters banquet again this year? Surely the mothers will not let the dads get ahead of them. The banquet of last year, the first one was such a wonderful success that it would be unfortunate not to have it again this year. Of course it does mean a lot of work for someone and we will admit it is generally a few who will do it, but the reward is sure to come. Last year over 200 were present at the banquet; why not another one this year?

Parent-Teachers' Meeting
The Parent-Teachers' Association met in the school building Friday evening at which time a program of interest was rendered. Prof. R. J. Frazer, principal of the North Dixon High School delivered the address. Other features of the program were furnished by patrons of the school and members of the association.

Church Notes.

BAD TRAIN WRECK
Aberdeen, Md., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Four trainmen were killed and more than 300 passengers bruised or slightly injured in a double collision on the Pennsylvania railroad at Short Lane, near here, yesterday afternoon.

A local bound from Baltimore to Philadelphia crashed into the rear end of a northbound freight during a heavy fog. The impact hurled three of the freight cars onto the southbound track. An express bound from New York to Washington plunged into the cars, overturning its first four Pullman coaches. The local train was derailed.

OLSON IS CUSTED
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Governor Emmerson announced today that O. T. Olson of Kankakee, superintendent of the Division of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, had been "relieved from duty" effective immediately. Olson had been in the department several years.

INJURIES WERE FATAL
Pana, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—George McCullough, 44, Irving, Ill., farmer injured yesterday afternoon in a railroad crossing crash at Irving near here, died today in a hospital at Hillsboro. Dr. W. V. Parkhill, 70, of Irving, who was injured in the same accident, was still unconscious today, suffering from a compound fracture of the skull.

ABE MARTIN

The 5-dollar bill needs a little dressin' down, too, fer all it'll buy. If you've paid any particular attention to it you've prob'ly noticed that it's allus a Republican who says, "O' course the country needs two great political parties."

appointed foreman, later promoted to DeKalb and later roadmaster. We agree with the Press "a neat but well deserved compliment" as all his friends here also agree.

Shippers Association
Saturday afternoon the annual meeting of the Franklin Grove Shippers Association was held in Kersten hall. An excellent attendance enjoyed the meeting and profited thereby. The business of the meeting consisted of the election of one new director, Walter D. Beachley, for three years; and George Canfield for one year, to serve for the unexpired term due to the resignation of Charles Pluister, who is moving soon from this community. Several speeches were made, the one of most importance being that of D. L. Swanson of the Producers Association of Chicago on co-operation in shipping. Mr. Yale of Amboy, the Lee County Farm Adviser, spoke also favoring and advising farmers to ship by rail instead of trucking their products to market.

Buried Here Sunday.
Mrs. Melinda Wilkerson, sister of Fred Eberly of this place, died Friday in the Sterling hospital, after several months illness at that place. Mrs. Wilkerson formerly resided at this place, but for a number of years after her marriage made her home in Galt, where her husband preceded here in death. For three or four years she was afflicted with cancer under her left arm and was removed to the Sterling hospital several months prior to her demise. The deceased was a kind, contented and helpful friend, a neighbor well liked, always ready with thoughtful service, and an uncompromising patient sufferer in all her affliction. The remains were brought to this place for burial in the Franklin cemetery Sunday noon, Rev. Tavener of the Methodist church officiating.

Supper Postponed
Owing to the extreme cold weather, and icy walks the Aid Society of the Methodist church postponed their church night supper which was to have been held Tuesday night. No definite plans have been made as yet when the supper will be held. The date of same will appear in this column when decided upon.

Mothers And Daughters
What about a Mothers and Daughters banquet again this year? Surely the mothers will not let the dads get ahead of them. The banquet of last year, the first one was such a wonderful success that it would be unfortunate not to have it again this year. Of course it does mean a lot of work for someone and we will admit it is generally a few who will do it, but the reward is sure to come. Last year over 200 were present at the banquet; why not another one this year?

Parent-Teachers' Meeting
The Parent-Teachers' Association met in the school building Friday evening at which time a program of interest was rendered. Prof. R. J. Frazer, principal of the North Dixon High School delivered the address. Other features of the program were furnished by patrons of the school and members of the association.

BAD TRAIN WRECK
Aberdeen, Md., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Four trainmen were killed and more than 300 passengers bruised or slightly injured in a double collision on the Pennsylvania railroad at Short Lane, near here, yesterday afternoon.

A local bound from Baltimore to Philadelphia crashed into the rear end of a northbound freight during a heavy fog. The impact hurled three of the freight cars onto the southbound track. An express bound from New York to Washington plunged into the cars, overturning its first four Pullman coaches. The local train was derailed.

OLSON IS CUSTED
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Governor Emmerson announced today that O. T. Olson of Kankakee, superintendent of the Division of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, had been "relieved from duty
